FLOOD CONDITIONS SHOW IMPROVEMENT

Mississippi River Near Memphis Begins to Subside.

All the Levees in the Menaced District Holding Strong.

MEMPHIS, April 8.—Flood conditions throughout the Mississippi valley showed some improvement this morning, when a sunny day gave further encouragement to those conducting the work of rescue among the hundreds driven from their homes by the high water. All levees in the flood-menaced district were holding strong and at this point the river had subsided seven tenths of a foot. With upper district levees holding, however, the strain on the dikes in the Yazoo section increased and men worked all night on the embankment south of Memphis to bolster weak spots. The danger at several points along the Arkansas shore has not passed.

Two hundred levee workers narrowly escaped being swept away when the embankment caved at Mile Post, 16 miles south of Helena, Ark., yesterday. The town of Modoc, near the break, is 20 feet under water today. Modoc practically has been depopulated and those who remained took to flight when the roar of the water gave warning of its coming.

Steamer Kate Adams was near Modoc when the levee broke and rescued those imperilled. A hundred or more panic-stricken negroes were taken from a government barge and moored to the bank. Later motor launches went into the flood and rescued a number of farmhands from the roofs of their cabins, from the trees and the peaks of knolls which were above the water. The work of caring for the refugees from the lowlands is fast being systematized. Tents and supplies have been received at the more important centres and arrangements have been made for the establishment of central relief headquarters at Helena.

A relief train sent from Forest City, Ark., yesterday to rescue farmers in the overflowed section of St. Francis and Crittenden counties, returned last night with 190 refugees on board, but with the mission only half completed. The train could not proceed further than McHeath, 20 miles east of this city. Beyond that point where many persons are believed to be marooned only boats can be of service.

New Madrid, Mo., overflowed to a depth of several feet, is nevertheless "dry." At least the "drys" won in a local option election Saturday. Voters came to the polls in skiffs, in motor launches and on rafts and when the rubber booted election clerks completed their count it was shown that the "wets" were beaten by 300 votes. Belated returns from the election were received here today.

REFUGEES BROUGHT TO MEMPHIS

Hundreds of Homeless Persons Taken from Arkansas Districts.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 8.—Three Mississippi river steamers reached Memphis today, carrying hundreds of homeless persons from the floodswept lands of Arkansas in the Modoc territory. Many of these report losses of life in several of the small towns that were inundated when the embankment was breached. There is no chance to verify such reports, but it is generally believed that there have been fatalities in Phillips county, Arkansas.

The refugees who came this morning saved none of their personal belongings. Many of them were almost naked when they reached the river boats. The boat captains and the more fortunate of the sufferers divided clothing with the needy.

Steamer Kate Adams, which was near Modoc when the crevasse occurred near there, probably saved hundreds of lives by taking refugees from rafts and housetops. In the midst of the rescue work the steamer put out a skiff to a woman who sat on the roof of her floating house. She sent word back to the captain that she would not leave unless he would consent to take her dead baby on board the steamer. Accordingly a soap box was sent to the floating house. The woman brought out the babe's corpse, placed it in the box and was rowed to the steamer. The little body was brought to Memphis and buried here today.

One of the Lee Line steamers from the Arkansas county that reached here today told of a desperate fight with a negro, who refused to leave a raft on which he floated unless he was allowed to bring his mule. As a last resort the captain of the boat tied the raft bearing the mule behind the steamer and towed raft, mule, negro and all into Memphis.

WATERS SUBSIDING.

The Winooski and North Branch Rivers Begin to Fall.

MONTPELIER, Vt., April 8.—Hope of an abatement of the high rising of the Winooski river and the North Branch, which last night had swollen to nearly 15 feet above the normal, causing a loss estimated at $100,000, was fulfilled today when the waters fell seven feet during the early forenoon. Although cellars in all parts of the city are still flooded, the water which was several feet deep on Main and State streets fell considerably.

Because of the high water the night train service on the Montpelier and Wells River railroad, was discontinued. The river reached its highest point for a dozen years, the rain late yesterday, which followed a hot sun, causing torrents of melting snow to come down from the mountains and flood the lowlands.

Barre, which suffered damage estimated at $25,000 by the freshet, was in much better condition today, as the water had fallen several feet. Merchants lost several hundred dollars worth of goods by water damage in their stores. In many cases telegraph and telephone communication was cut off in both Montpelier and Barre during the night. Today the work of repairing much of the damage was begun.

TAFT A RECEIVER OF STOLEN GOODS.

Unless Repudiates Acts of Federal Office Holders.

Roosevelt Manager Claims Certificates Wrongly Signed.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—In an open letter to President Taft, given out at Roosevelt headquarters here today, Senator Joseph M. Dixon, campaign manager for Roosevelt, declares that the President "will become the deliberate receiver of stolen goods" if he does not repudiate the action of certain federal office holders in the Kentucky election Saturday and institute proceedings against them. Senator Dixon's letter was sent as the result of a telegram received from E. C. O'Rear, former chief justice of the supreme court of Kentucky and candidate for governor at the last election. This telegram, sent Sunday, was as follows:

"Later returns give Roosevelt first district, but chairman of McCracken county, who is deputy postmaster at Paducah, signs Taft certificate, though Roosevelt carries county by 1,096 to 517. In Carlisle county Roosevelt had all but three, one of whom was the chairman, but postmaster signs Taft certificates. Nothing approaching these high-handed methods has ever been developed before in Kentucky politics."

Senator Dixon in his letter, declares that federal officeholders supporting President Taft are specifically charged by Judge O'Rear with violating the law, the civil service regulations and executive orders.

"These acts operate to subvert the directly expressed will of the majority of the voters in the districts where committed," says the letter. In plain language these acts constitute theft. Unless they are promptly repudiated by you and those who committed them are immediately cited to trial, you cannot escape the charge of being willing to profit knowingly by such theft. In other words you will become the deliberate receiver of stolen goods.

Senator Dixon declares that postmasters have ignored President Taft's recent message to Congress recommending the transfer of postmasters to the civil service or they "refuse to credit you with sincerity in your public declarations. Failure on your part now to act in prompt rebuke and punishment of these crimes can only convince the whole country that the assault upon your honor by your subordinates in Kentucky is justified.

"I call upon you, not as a candidate for re-nomination but as President of the United States, to issue an order to office holders of Kentucky to cancel illegal action. I call upon you as President of the United States to punish these men guilty of violating the civil service rules and the orders of your predecessor. I call upon you as President of the United States to enforce the law."

Senator Dixon stated that he had sent the report to the civil service commission. In going out the letter he said the matter would be "before Congress within 24 hours."

WAGE INCREASES IN EFFECT.

More Than 6,000 Operatives in New England Cotton Mills Benefitted.

BOSTON, April 8.—More than 6,000 operatives in New England cotton, woolen and worsted mills benefitted by wage advances which became effective today. The increase was in accordance with the raises announced by several New England manufacturers during the past few weeks. In Palmer about 2,100 employes were affected by the wage increase, but the percentage of advance has not been made public by the mill owners. The persons benefitted include 900 at the Palmer cotton mills at the Three Rivers; 600 at the Thorndike Company at Thorndike and 600 at the Boston Duck Company at Bondsville. Employes of the Otis Company in Ware, to the number of 2,000, received their second advance in wages, the previous advance having been made three weeks ago.

Carders, ring spinners, weavers and dress room employes of the Great Falls Manufacturing Company at Somersworth, N. H., benefitted by the second increase of five per cent, making a total advance of 10 per cent within a few weeks. About 2,000 hands are employed in the mill.

More than 75 persons employed in the Oakland woolen mills at Oakland, Maine, received an increase in wages amounting to five per cent. The hours of work a week were also reduced from 60 to 58.

ON FULL TIME SCHEDULE.

National India Rubber Company, Bristol, Resumes Work.

BRISTOL, April 8.—The factory of the National India Rubber Company resumed operations on full time today, after a shut down of a week for stock taking purposes. The plant, which is controlled by the United States Rubber Company, employs about 1,800 operatives.

DETECTIVES STILL SEARCHING.

Member of Allen Clan Arrges to Tell Relatives' Hiding Place.

HILLSVILLE, Va., April 8.—For two days the outside world has received no direct information concerning the movements of the detective force on the trail of Sidna Allen and Wesley Edwards, along the North Carolina border. It is supposed that the searchers are still beating the mountain brush in the Fancy Gap neighborhood. Those directing the search refuse to admit that any success has attended their efforts to buy the secret, but a well defined story is in circulation to the effect that a member of the Allen clan has agreed to tell the hiding place of his relatives for $1,000 and a promise of protection from publicity.

STEAMERS REPORTED.

NEW YORK, April 8.—Saxonia from Naples for New York, reported 115 miles east of Sandy Hook at 10 a. m., will dock about 8 a. m. Tuesday.

SIASCONSET, Mass., April 8.—Vaderland from Antwerp and Dover for New York, 300 miles east of Sandy Hook at 2:30 a. m., will dock about 8 a. m. Tuesday.

BIG ADDITION TO MINERS IN PITS.

General Activity in Great Britain Coal Districts.

A Long Time Before Normal Conditions Will be Resumed.

LONDON, April 8.—General activity prevails in all the coal mining districts of Great Britain today. In Scotland and North Wales this morning there was a large increase in the number of miners who descended the shafts, while in the English and southern Welsh coal fields where the Easter holiday is being observed small gangs of men went down the pits in order to clear the roadways and to prepare for a general resumption of work tomorrow. The full contingent of men is working in North Wales and as the debris in most of the mines in the district was cleared away last week thousands of tons of coal were raised this morning.

In Flingshire 6,000 miners have started work again and in the Derbyshire pits the men are working in preparation for coal getting tomorrow. In Fifeshire, Scotland, the men have decided not to return until the funds in the treasury of the union, which amount to $150,000, have been exhausted and as the trouble is feared by the authorities between the strikers and non-union men who have returned to work a large force of police has been drafted into the county.

In southern Wales preparations have been made for a resumption, but the prospects there are not as bright as the engineers, firemen and other surface men have pledged themselves not to return to work until their demands also have been conceded.

The first coal mined will be supplied to the railroads and mills, so that three weeks at least will pass before the householdrsh in th citisahirhavh the householders in the cities will be able to secure full supplies for domestic purposes at the usual price, and it is estimated an even longer period will elapse before normal conditions in foreign trade will be reached.

MUSICAL PICKETING A FEATURE.

Lowell Mills Expected to Grant 10 Per Cent Demanded by Strikers.

LOWELL, Mass., April 8.—Two thousand striking operatives paraded at the Hamilton, Appleton and Bigelow mill gates this morning and then passed through the principle streets of the city. "Musical picketing" preceded the parade, and was a feature when the procession formed. The strikers carried violins, banjos, guitars, bugles, tin horns, whistles, accordions and snare drums, and the noise emanating from this conglomeration of instruments strongly suggested "the night before" July 4. Two strikers were arrested, charged with assault upon unknown persons.

It is believed the mills will grant the 10 per cent demanded by the strikers, and the strike will end at an early time. Four of the six mills affected are willing to make the concession, it is understood.

FALL RIVER FIREMEN OUT.

Laborers Doing Work of Regular Licensed Men in the Mills.

FALL RIVER, Mass., April 8.—The strike of 300 firemen employed in 100 mills of the city, became effective here this morning. All the mills are being operated, however, laborers doing the work of the regular licensed firemen. Under the law the mills may continue operations for a week without licensed firemen, as long as a licensed engineer is in charge.

International President Timothy Healey of New York, who is in charge of the strike situation here, stated this noon that only one union fireman reported for work this morning and he did so because of some misunderstanding. Reports from the mills show that some of them are crippled, although being operated in full. It is believed that some manufacturers have arranged to bring licensed firemen from other cities here.

WAGE DEMANDS DENIED.

Employes of the Roxbury Carpet Company Go Out.

BOSTON, April 8.—One hundred employes of the Roxbury Carpet Company struck today, when their demands for a 10 per cent increase in wages were denied by Superintendent Frank Hamliton. Most of the strikers are women and are employed in the weaving and drum departments of the mill. There were no disturbances. About 600 persons work in the mill and the strikers were confident that most of the operatives would strike before the end of the day. In addition to asking for a wage advance the strikers demand that three women operatives recently discharged be reinstated.

A NEW WAGE SCALE.

The Cutler Manufacturing Company to Increase Employes' Wages.

WARREN, April 8.—The management of the Cutler Manufacturing Company announces today that April 15 a new wage scale would go into effect, with an increase which would average the same as that adopted by the Massachusetts and Rhode Island mills. The mill employs about 150 operatives and makes cotton yarns.

RING SPINNERS OUT.

WARREN, April 8.—Because they claimed they had only received an increase of eight per cent when they expected 10 per cent, the ring spinners of the Parker mill at East Warren, numbering about 25, walked out today. After being out about two hours they had a conference with Superintendent E. E. Bartlett and returned to work pending an adjustment of their differences. The mill is a branch of the Parker mill of Fall River and employs about 700.

Easter Concerts at Christian and Methodist Churches—Musical Programs at Others.

[Regular correspondence of The News.]

Rev. Albert Loucks began his pastorate at the Christian Church Easter Sunday morning, preaching an effective sermon from the text in Romans VI: 4. He, with his wife and son and the greater part of his household goods, arrived at the parsonage last week. Since then they have been entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Robert Purcell on Glen street, in order that they might devote their entire time to putting their home in order.

The attendance at the Easter concert in the evening was seriously lessened by the rain; however, the gathering was large considering the conditions. The exercises began with an organ voluntary by Mrs. Belle Tallman, followed by singing, "Jesus the Conqueror;" Scripture reading by the superintendent, Mrs. Alonzo E. Borden; prayer, Rev. Albert Loucks; recitation, "The First Crocus," Alice Conway; solo, "Lilies of Easter," Miss Esther Bishop, Mrs. Warren R. Sherman accompanist; recitation, "I'll sing with Him," Ciriotta Coggeshall; "Chords of Joy," Annie Walker; "Why We Love Them," Thomas White; singing, male quartet, "Captivity Led Captive;" recitation, "Easter Time," Edmund White; singing, "The Breaking Day;" recitations, "Easter Time," Earl Sherman, and "Easter," Mary Paquin; "A Song of Easter," Mary Coggeshall; singing, "The Angel's Message;" readings, Miss Eva Walker; singing, "Wake Them to Joy;" reading, Miss Elsie Brown, "The stone rolled away;" singing, "Ring the Bells;" recitation, "Easter Day," Sophie Hague; reading, "There is no Death," Mr. Raymond Borden; reading, "The Easter Gift," Mrs. Edward W. Thurston; singing, "Bright Easter Cheer;" collection and benediction.

Rev. John Wadsworth entered upon the third year of his pastorate with the Methodist Episcopal Church Sunday, preaching an Easter sermon from the text, "The Lord is risen, indeed:" Luke XXIV:34.

In the evening an Easter concert was given and, although it was stormy, a good-sized congregation was present to listen to the following well rendered program: Opening chorus, by the choir; responsive reading, Superintendent Sylvanus P. Fish and the school; prayer, Rev. John Wadsworth; anthem, choir; exercise, "Easter Greeting;" chorus, "There's a Glory;" recitations, "If I were a Bell," Elva Hedly; "A Light for Jesus," Martha Ashley; "Violets," Minnie Davol, chorus, "Lo, the Rock is Riven;" recitations, "The Little Flowers," Ray Cross; "Something Awake," Ruth Hedly; exercise, "There's work for us;" chorus, "Angels of Easter;" recitation, "The Woman's Vision," Florence Spooner; song, "The Waking of the Lilies;" recitation, "He rose today," Howard Borden; chorus, "Lo! He goes before;" recitations, "The Gifts of Spring," Dorothy Barry; "Praise," Minnie Dennis; "A Little Child on Easter Day," Emily Chace; exercise "The Pilgrim's Vision;" chorus, "Dawn's Golden Light;" recitation, "An Easter Story," Helen Chace; exercise, "Soldiers of Jesus;" chorus, "Angel Heralds;" recitation, "The Best of Gifts," Marjorie Borden; exercise, "The Glory-Crowned Cross;" chorus, "We seek our King;" brief remarks and collection; chorus, "Strife is O'er."

At St. Mary's the Easter decorations were composed of red carnations and ferns in the font and pink and white carnations in the chancel. The celebration of the Holy Eucharist in the morning was choral throughout, the acting rector, Rev. H. Newman Lawrence being the celebrant and preacher. The musical program was as follows: Prelude, Ave Maria, Otilia Verdi; processional, Sullivan; Kyrie Eleison, Merbecke; Gloria Tibi and Gratias Tibi, Merbecke; hymn before sermon, Sullivan; offertory, "God hath appointed a day," Tones; at presentation of alms, Humphrey; sursum corda, sanctus, benedictus, Agnus Dei and Gloria in Excelsis, Merbecke; hymn during ablution, Rosemuller; recessional, from Lyra Davidica; postlude, Finale from Nebuchadnezzar, Verdi.

In the afternoon, the Sunday School united with the Holy Cross school in the children's festival at the latter church and gave the contents of their mite boxes as their Lenten offerings for missions.

St. Paul's Church about the chancel was decorated with flowers whose perfume filled the church. Garlands of smilax were festooned on the front of the altar and the reading desk, with sprays about the lectern. The font was filled with large Easter lilies and the base of the lectern with pink and white carnations and ferns, gifts in memory of Miss Bertha Hicks; the altar bore two vases of Easter lilies, gifts in memory of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hicks. In front of the reading desk was a collection of potted callas, heliotrope and geraniums, besides cut flowers. There was a large congregation and the Easter music was well rendered. Both Rev. J. Sturgis Pearce and Rev. Anson B. Howard took part in the service. Mr. Howard preached and took his text from Mark XVI:7: "He goeth before you into Galilee." An afternoon service was held.

According to the usual custom there were only a few flowers at the Friends' Church, elaborate decorations being reserved for Children's day, when flowers are plentiful. There was but one service, that of the morning, in order to afford those who wished an opportunity to attend one of the Easter concerts given by the other churches. The sermon of the morning was by the pastor, Rev. James M. Estes, his subject being "The Bible a sufficient proof for the resurrection." His text was in I Cor. XV:54: "Death is swallowed up in victory."

Mrs. Louise Emerson and her two children, Frederick and Arthur, who had been spending the week with Mrs. Emerson's parents, Rev. and Mrs. James M. Estes, returned to their home in North Reading, Mass., Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Elwyn B. Anthony of this town and Miss Sarah Mott of Providence left Friday night for a trip to Washington and Norfolk. On their way home, they will stop in New York for a few days.

Mrs. Henry B. Peckham is visiting relatives in Washington.

NEW SCHOOLHOUSE DEFEATED.

Highway Appropriations Made and Other Business Done in Middletown Town Meeting.

The business of the annual town meeting was continued at the town hall in Middletown Saturday afternoon. The attendance, while more than the average at adjourned meetings, comprised only about three fifths of the number qualified to vote on financial questions. The largest total was on the schoolhouse question, being 154.

Those best acquainted with the sentiment of all parts of the town, were apprehensive that the proposition recommended by the special committee would fail to be approved by a majority of the electors. On the need of increased school facilities there is little difference of opinion; as to the method of providing them, there is a diversity of opinion.

The proposition submitted has: November, to erect a central schoolhouse of four rooms, was rejected, as not easy of access to a large portion of the school population, and therefore impracticable. The latest plan, for a three room building in the extreme northerly part of the town, was regarded in the same light. If the committee had proposed a new school building near Third Beach road, and one additional recitation room at the Oliphant and Witherbee schools, there is little doubt of the adoption of the proposition. The bungalow style of architecture recommended for chaneing the Oliphant schoolhouse was not admired or desired by many.

Last November, in a total vote of 162, 70 were in favor of the central schoolhouse and 92 against it. Saturday, out of a total vote of 164, 70 were in favor of two new school buildings and 84 were not.

The thanks of the town were extended to its special committee and the committee was continued.

The two highway propositions received votes as follows:

Proposition to appropriate $3,000 for ordinary repairs—Yes, 95; No, 35; majority for, 40.

Proposition to appropriate $5,000 for stone roads—Yes, 89; no, 61; majority for, 28.

The auditors' report on the transactions of Charles H. Ward, as town treasurer, up to the time of his decease in November, 1911, and the report of Clifton B. Ward, the present town treasurer, were received and ordered on file.

The present liabilities of the town in notes amount to $21,000. The town treasurer was authorized to hire not exceeding $40,000, inclusive of present loans.

On motion of I. Lincoln Sherman, the salary of the town treasurer was increased from $100 to $250 and that of the Collector of Taxes from $150 to $200. The clerk of the public school committee was granted an allowance of $25.

There was a prolonged discussion of the new tax act and its effect on the revenues of the town. It was recognized that it would materially reduce the amount received on personal estate. It decided to increase the local rate to 7½ cents on real property and tangible personal property. The law establishes a uniform rate of 40 cents on intangible personal property. Taxes were made payable by the first Monday in December and after that date a penalty of one per centum per month attaches. A poll tax was directed to be assessed and collected at the same time as the property tax.

The following appropriations were made: for public schools, $7,600; care of Middletown cemetery, $400; stone roads, $5,000; ordinary repair of highways, $3,000; oil, $500; total, $16,500.

The town clerk was constituted a committee on printing and directed to invite proposals before awarding contracts.

There was animated debate as to whether the dog fund of 1911 should be retained for payment of damages done by dogs or passed to the credit of the school fund, as provided by law. A motion to retain was lost and the balance received from licenses issued to keep dogs in 1911 will accordingly go to the school fund. The dog fund at present amounts to $4,791.62, having been retained for several years.

When they fail the blood becomes foul and poisonous.

There can be no health where there is poisoned blood.

Backache is one of the first indications of kidney trouble.

Doan's Kidney Pills are what is wanted.

Are just what overworked kidneys need.

Read the proof from a Newport citizen.

P. S. Bosworth, 35 Spring St., Newport, R. I., says: "For some time my back ached and I had pains across my kidneys. The kidney secretions were irregular in passage and caused me no end of annoyance. Doan's Kidney Pills were finally procured at Wright & Hay's Drug Store and they gave me entire relief. At that time I gave a statement for publication in praise of Doan's Kidney Pills and I now confirm all I then said."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Crawford Ranges

You can cook with any stove if you use time enough, work hard enough and burn coal enough—but in these days time, comfort and coal are important items. Therefore we believe that the range that is the greatest saver of time, labor and waste is the one the housekeeper of today wants—and she gets it in a Crawford.

Have you ever examined one? Do you know why it bakes better than other ranges? Will you let us send you our illustrated pamphlet that tells why? It describes the wonderful Single Damper (patented); the Oven perfectly heated in every part by the scientific heat flues; the Ash Hod that takes the place of the old clumsy ash pan; and other Crawford improvements that save time, trouble and money.

[Regular Correspondence of The News.]

A large congregation filled the chapel of St. Columba, the Berkeley Memorial Chapel, Easter morning. There was a celebration of the Holy Eucharist by the rector, Rev. Latta Griswold, and the sermon was delivered by Rev. John B. Diman, from Acts XVII: 2-3. In the absence of the regular organist, Mr. Edward P. Lake, Mr. Walter Ruel Cowles, a former musical director at St. George's School was at the organ. During the service selections were sung from King Hall, Cruickshank and Stainer, by the vested choir.

A pretty effect was obtained on the altar by the placing of low flowering potted Easter Lilies among the "office lights," with a partial screen of white carnations and ferns. Low palms were used about the chancel in connection with many Easter lilies in pots. The latter were sent to the sick and "shut-ins" of the parish. A profusion of cut flowers were placed on the graves in the churchyard.

Rev. Mr. Diman gave an Easter address before the Sunday School at the 10 o'clock service, and flowering potted geraniums were distributed to the children.

The evening service was conducted by Rev. Latta Griswold. Robert W. Hughes, musical director at St. George's School, was at the organ and the singing was by the vested choir from the school.

At the Methodist Episcopal Church a special program was arranged by the Sunday School for Easter, this being the first service of the day. The numbers were as follows: Song by the school, followed by a responsive service and prayer; recitation, Miss Ivah Peckham; exercise, "Easter Offering," three small children; recitation, Everett Beddows; Easter song, Fred Webber, Jr.; reading, Miss Mildred Peckham; song, school; "The Three Easter Lessons," primary department; reading, Miss Dorothy Peckham; recitation, "Ring Out the Glad Hosannas," Wallace Peckham; recitation, "Easter-tide," Lois Cory; general talk, by the pastor, Rev. E. E. Wells. The collection of $10.65 comprised pennies earned by the children for missions. The service closed with a hymn.

The session of the Sunday School was followed by the regular afternoon service, the pastor preaching from Luke XXIV.5: "Why seek ye the living among the dead?" There was also a celebration of the Holy Communion and special music by the choir. Flowering potted plants were arranged about the pulpit.

In the evening Rev. Mr. Wells gave the sixth and last in the winter's series of illustrated missionary lectures, the subject being "The Hermit Awakening, or Korea in Transition." About 75 slides were shown, interspersed with missionary hymns, which were also thrown upon the screen.

Mrs. Gertrude Gisson Corey of Tiverton has been guest of her sister, Mrs. Ida Calvert, on Green End avenue.

A number of the teachers whose vacation was last week returned to their respective schools out of town, Saturday and Sunday. Miss Nellie R. Peckham of Newport and Miss Ardelia Peckham of Providence are at home this week on their spring vacations. The Middletown schools will close April 19 for a two weeks' vacation.

Mrs. Maud Howe Elliott will speak this week before the Oliphant Club on "Woman Suffrage." Mrs. Edward Almy will act as hostess and the members will be permitted to invite friends. The address will follow the annual meeting.

The speakers at the second educational meeting at the town hall this week will be Mr. Edward L. Fisher, arithmetic, from the Rhode Island Normal School, and Mr. William W. Andrews, assistant state commissioner, who will speak on language. The meetings are not wholly for teachers, but for any one interested in the advancement of education.

The concert by the musical clubs of St. George's School has been postponed until May.

A CRITICAL WEEK FOR TAFT.

This week will be the critical one in the contest for the control of the Republican national convention. Nearly 1,100 delegates will be elected in the states of Illinois, Pennsylvania, Louisiana, New York, Maine, Vermont, Michigan, Kentucky and Missouri. President Taft now has 262 delegates pledged to him out of 352 elected, and can probably count on the votes of eight others. He needs 269 more votes to give him a majority at Chicago. If, as is expected by his managers, he secures 130 to 140 of the delegates chosen this week the fight will be practically over.

PERSONALS.

....Viroqua, Wis., had a peculiar municipal election last week. August Smith and August Smith were candidates for mayor, one a business man and the other a high school principal. The latter was designated on the ballot as "the elder," and the other as "the younger." August Smith, the elder, won.

....Representative Francis of Ohio has asked the House committee on invalid pensions to consider immediately the granting a pension of $100 a month to Mrs. Sarah Brandon, who enlisted 16 sons to fight for the Union during the Civil war. Mrs. Brandon, who lives in Jacksburg, Ohio, is said to be 114 years old. She has been married twice and has had 33 children.

....The first "health marriage" under Dean Walter T. Sumner's requirements of medical certification will be performed in the Cathedral of SS. Peter and Paul, Chicago, April 10, when Miss Ruth Palmer will become the wife of A. W. Bode, a telephone operator. In the Chicago police department, both were required to bring certificates from reputable physicians that they were neither physically nor mentally deficient, and that they had neither incurable nor contagious diseases.

....Professor A. Lawrence Rotch, director of the Blue Hill Meteorological Observatory, with an international reputation for his studies of the upper atmosphere, is dead following an operation for appendicitis. Professor Rotch founded the Blue Hill Observatory in 1885 and gained fame for his investigations of upper air currents and for employing kites in obtaining meteorological data. He obtained the first observations high above the Atlantic Ocean by means of kites, and with registering balloons made the first observations at a height of from five to 10 miles over the North American continent. Various foreign orders were conferred upon Professor Rotch for his scientific achievements, and he was a member of many of the scientific societies of the world. He took part in scientific expeditions in South America, Europe, Africa and North America. Professor Rotch was from an old Milton family. He was a graduate of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology, of which he was a trustee at the time of his death. He was head of the Department of meteorology and geology at Harvard university.

PRESIDENTIAL POSSIBILITIES.

© by Moffett.

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT.

No uncertainty attaches to the candidacy of the President for a re-nomination. "Nothing but death can keep me out of the fight now," were the words in which he stated his attitude. Until his appointment in 1900 as first civil governor of the Philippines his public career had been entirely judicial. In 1903 he declined an appointment by President Roosevelt to the Supreme Court and the next year accepted the War portfolio in his cabinet. He "kept the lid on" in Cuba as provisional governor in 1906. By order of the President in 1907 he visited Panama, Cuba and Porto Rico, and later the Philippines and Japan, returning by way of Russia, his nomination for the Presidency following soon after his return. He received 321 electoral votes as against 162 cast for William Jennings Bryan.

SPRING'S PROMISES.

(Richard Le Gallienne, in Hampton Magazine.)

When the spring comes again, will you be there?
Three springs I watched and waited for your face,
And listened for your voice upon the air;
I sought for you in many a hidden place,
Saying, "She must be there."

"Surely some magic slumber holds her fast.
She whose blue eyes were morning's earliest flowers."
I sighed; and, one by one, before me passed
The rainbowed daughters of the vernal showers,
Saying, "She comes at last."

Ah! broken promise of the world! how fair
You speak young hearts! in many a wanton word
Of lyric April, each succeeding year.
By risen flower, and the returning bird,
You vowed to bring back her.

And now the flutes are in the trees once more,
The violets breathe up through the melting snow,
Old Earth throws open wide her grassy door—
As if there were no violets long ago,
Or any birds before.

FANCIES.

"I have troubles of my own."

"Sure they aren't in your wife's name?"

In Leap Year. "He told me to read my answer in the stars."

"Didn't he know that you were near-sighted?"

"Nero fiddled while Rome was burning."

"He ought to have played the hose, instead of the violin."

Sophomore—You say that like causes produce like effects, and yet the fall you had on the sidewalk this morning made you very angry.

Professor—It did. What of it?

Sophomore—It made me laugh.

At the dance. Breathless Lady (to energetic partner)—Gently—Mr. Hopkins—please—do remember—it's Lent.—[Punch.

Kitty—But, Jack, are you sure that you could be true to one girl?

Jack—Why, I could be true to a dozen.—[Boston Transcript.

Suffragette—I defy any one to name a field of endeavor in which men do not receive more consideration than women!

Voice from Crowd—What about the ballet?—[Punch.

An old darky was trying to describe how he preached. "It's dis away, boss," said he. "Fust Ah tells 'em wha' Ah'm gwine to tell 'em, den Ah—Ah tells 'em, an' den Ah tells 'em wha' Ah've told 'em."—[Judge.

"I admit without hesitation," said the man who tries to conceal his self-esteem, "that whatever I am today is due to the influence of my wife."

"That's right!" replied Mr. Growcher. "Always blame the woman."—[Washington Star.

"Are you fond of Chinese art?"

"Not exactly fond of it," replied the man who is frank. "But I derive a great deal of satisfaction from it. Every time I see an oriental picture I go outdoors and feel happy because people and things look so different."—[Washington Star.

Willie was looking at the pictures in a magazine when suddenly he turned to his father and asked: "Pa, do cocoanuts really grow on trees?"

"Of course! Where did you think they grew?"

"Why, pa, I always thought the monkey's laid 'em."—[Boston Transcript.

Sailfee, our local amateur naval architect, noticing that capsized boats are invariably found floating upside down, has constructed the "Sailfee non-capsizable" pleasure-boat on the principle that, being already upside down, it cannot capsize.—[Punch.

"I understand that he was critically ill."

"He was as soon as he became convalescent."

"How soon was he convalescent?"

"Yes. He was dangerously ill, and then as soon as he became convalescent he became so critical there was no pleasing him."—[Houston Post.

"Miss Pounder," said the boss as the stenographer was getting on her things, "before you go home I wish to dictate a couple of dozen letters."

"A couple of dozen?" echoed the stenographer, aghast.

"Twenty-six, to be exact," returned the boss, very quietly. "Please get your book—Ready?—Now, then—a b c d e f, etc. Thank you, Miss Pounder. No hurry about typewriting them. That's all!"—[Boston Transcript.

AT A FASHIONABLE DRESSMAKING ESTABLISHMENT.

[Grace Margaret Gould, in Woman's Home Companion.]

I am sure if you have never been inside one of these fashionable New York dressmaking establishments, you are going to enjoy our first call. Well, it is 11 o'clock when we step into the most exquisite of drawing rooms, in a house just off Fifth avenue. It is hard to believe it is not a private home of one of New York's society leaders. What could be lovlier than this color scheme of exquisite French gray, the velvet carpet and silken draperies matching in tone? Just see those chairs of gray and silver, and the chandeliers of silver, too, with the lights gleaming through rose-silken shades. Artistic, isn't it?

The head of this establishment would impress you as a fashion plate, so trim and straight is her figure, so elegant her costume, if she were not at the same time so much of an artist and so gracious a woman. She is tact itself. She will not mind in the least if we draw our chairs together and watch for a while just how she conducts her most interesting business. It is a far cry from the old experience of going to the dressmaker to come into this most fashionable establishment.

Now see this woman Madame L. is just greeting. She is a new customer. Does she have to stand up for a tedious length of time to have her measures taken? Not a bit of it. Madame talks to her about the new fashions in general, and about one frock in particular. She hardly gives her customer a chance to say she will order it, when, like magic, the pattern woman arrives. This woman, let me tell you, has nothing to do with paper patterns. Do you see that roll of cambric she has in her hand, and the pincushion that is fastened to her side? Well, you watch the way she uses her scissors and her fingers, and before you know it you will see that she has tilted the cambric to the customer, so that she has a perfect model of her figure in cambric. I think it is perfectly wonderful the way she does it. See, there she goes back to the workroom. Now let's see what comes next. Did you hear Madame L. say she would try to make it for $250? My goodness! I wonder if she considers that cheap.

Their cost is trivial and they tell your story your way.

THE WESTERN UNION TELEGRAPH COMPANY

THE ELENA BEING RE-FITTED.

Will Make New London Her Home Port and May Meet the Westward in Important Races.

Schooner yacht Elena, Morton F. Plant, New York Yacht Club, which is now being re-fitted for the season at Greenport, Long Island, will leave there about May 10 and proceed to the Herreshoff works at Bristol. While at the latter place the yacht will receive a suit of new sails made for her during the winter months by the Herreshoffs, and after Captain W. S. Dennis, who continue in charge, has bent them, and minor jobs of various nature about the yacht are completed by the company, she will make New London her home port, and remain there until the racing of the larger clubs begins on Long Island sound.

While at New London it is the purpose of Captain Dennis thoroughly to drill his crew and give the yacht numerous trial spins, that she may be ready for the full season's racing service which her owner has arranged for her.

Whisperings are heard in yachting circles to the effect that schooner Westward may, after all, be placed in commission this season, with the view of again meeting her rival, the Elena in the various important races that are being arranged by the clubs for the schooner classes.

A DANGEROUS LOBBY.

One of the objections to the bill taxing out of existence matches made with a poisonous form of phosphorus was that. In the language of Mr. Rainey, the measure was pressed upon Congress by college professors, women's clubs and uplift associations of various sorts, and by such a newspaper lobby as was never before known in this country. Here is a terrible state of things! Congress is overawed by the college professors, the women's clubs, the uplift associations and the newspapers! If these are malign influences to bring to bear on Congress, what would Mr. Rainey regard as wholesome, rational and judicious influences, such as ought to prevail?

What, as a matter of fact, were the influences opposed to this bill, the influences for which Mr. Rainey stood and spoke and voted? Nothing except the opposition of some manufacturers who wish to go on making matches just as they are doing now, by a process which inflicts a loathesome and incurable disease upon a considerable proportion of the workers. The opponents of the law said the amount of disease was exaggerated. Is a question of this sort to be determined by the exact percentage of the workers who suffer necrosis of the jaw? The report in favor of the bill showed that in 15 factories 65 per cent of the workers were exposed to the fumes of the phosphorus and a considerable portion of these were in greater or less degree affected by them.

Mr. Underwood, leader of the House of aspirant for the Presidency, opposed the bill because to use the taxing power for the suppression of a business was a dangerous innovation. Where should we end if we began this, he asked. We began it 47 years ago, when we taxed state bank notes out of existence in order to force banks to take charters under the national law, and many years ago to gratify the farmers we imposed a prohibitory tax on oleomargarine capable of being used as butter, and we've used the taxing power to keep opium out of the country.

COURSES IN PUBLIC FESTIVALS.

Great strides are being made in these days in the realization of the fact that public education has some other function to perform beside imparting to students learning gleaned from books, that the school is a centre from which should radiate into all parts of the community in which it is established influences which will be helpful to every one, whether or not enrolled in the classes, whether child or adult, native or foreigner. That is the idea on which the public school education of the future will be built and already the foundation is being laid for a superstructure of that sort. To this end many lines of influence are being extended out into the community, to touch and aid those who under the old regime would not be affected directly by the school system, but only as it teaches the children such knowledge as is gained wholly from books. The use of school buildings as social centres, the establishment of mothers' clubs, the holding of special exercises on days commemorative of important events or personages, and the presentation of pageants, folk dances and exercises of that sort are all aiding in the broadening of the public school system to include the whole community in its educating process.

A marked illustration of the extent to which has been developed the idea that a school is doing its full duty only when it is helping all those who live within its environment, that those without its walls must be influenced as well as those within them, and that one of the best methods of interesting and helping the entire community is through events which will appeal to the people and bring them together socially and in a spirit of companionship and comradery, is the fact that in southern Michigan a normal school is offering to its students and to any who desire to take them courses in festivals. These are arranged on the extension plan, so that the classes need not be confined to those who are studying along other lines at the institution, but are open to all who wish to learn of the history of such events and how to make them practical in interesting all classes of people and bringing them together in a social and helpful way.

This is a decidedly new idea, but one which is already proving popular, though at first those who enrolled themselves in the classes had only a hazy conception of what it meant, what would be learned and the actual value of it all. It was soon found, however, that those who had established the courses possessed a practical idea of what was needed and what could be done along the line of festivals as public school and community functions of value. The students were at once put at what was called laboratory work. When a festival was decided upon they were sent into that quarter of the city where the normal school was located where resided persons of the nationality whose history was to be represented or some event in whose calendar was to be commemorated, and thus first-hand information was gained concerning the character of the festival and the historical features which must be presented. At the same time the representatives of the nation associated with the event were enlisted and through them every person of the same nationality was interested when the festival was given.

The work proved fascinating to the pupils of the normal school engaged in it and successful in arousing in the people of various nationalities who made up the population of the city a civic interest and pride, at the same time deepening and broadening their devotion to both their old and their adopted country. That similar courses will become a prominent item in the curriculum of other normal schools is not to be doubted, for it has been shown to be too important and too useful in the development of the modern idea of making the public school the centre of all good influences in the cities to be omitted from any course for the education of teachers to give fitness for this large and valuable work of helping the entire community through the public school. It is a radical departure from old methods of education, but no more radical than those which have been made in other lines in these days, and too important to be ignored or passed by.

RAILROADS AND RAIL LOADS.

It is quite clear that the roads of rails are not keeping pace with the increased weight of their rolling stock. Engines are much heavier than formerly, passenger cars are far heavier, freight cars are carrying 80 and even 60 tons instead of 10 or 12. The speed of heavy passenger trains has been increased, and this adds tremendously to the strain on tracks, especially on curves.

Four or five years ago rails began to break, and in spite of much discussion and some efforts to reach an agreement between the roads and the steel companies for the production of better ones they keep on breaking. There has been a striking series of accidents to the fast trains of the Pennsylvania railroad, beginning last summer, and the New York Central has not escaped. Its Twentieth Century flyer went into the Hudson a few days ago, or on to the Hudson, the heaviness of the ice preventing the submerging of several cars.

The rail is not the only element of danger, as the roadbed and ballasting do not always give the track complete support. It is open to question whether spikes can longer be trusted to hold the rails. Where the tie is decayed a little the spike pulls out. In one case where a fast train was sweeping around a curve the tremendous lateral strain sheared the heads of the spikes off and allowed the rails to spread.

The trouble with the rails is attributed by the officers to the steel makers and by the latter to the railroad men, who desire a hard rail to stand wear and therefore secure a brittle rail. This is true, but the charges against the steel men are probably as well founded. Everything in the rolling mills is sacrificed to speed. Since the beginning of this year accidents have happened to 11 fast trains in various parts of the country, and the rolling mill men and railroad men and the state and federal officials must come together and agree on regulations which will give better rails, better tracks, better roadbeds and increased safety for the traveling public.

Dr. John Lovett Morse of the Harvard Medical School, one of the leading authorities in the country on the care and culture of children, says the reproach cast on women of society for years, that they do not personally care for their children, is losing its force. "It is indeed encouraging," he says, "to know that the society woman of today is really taking an interest in her children. The unnatural conditions so justly and commonly held up to censure 10 years ago are fast disappearing. She has begun to realize the immense importance of nursing the baby and what it means to the child's future life."

Middletown is having difficulty in providing needed school accommodation for her increasing number of school children. The question of locality is apparently the rock on which the voters split, and the town goes before the world in the rather unenviable light of refusing to care for her children of school age because the residents of several sections will not agree as to the best place for a new building. Middletown will sooner or later vote to increase her school facilities, and in the meantime the children will be crowded into the unfit schoolrooms, sent to Newport or kept at home.

An opinion is heard that in leasing the beach privilege the city should view the contract simply as a financial asset to the treasury and the parties should receive it who will pay the most for it. Some pretty high figures have been quoted, but it is also reported that some of those who are credited with believing the beach is worth a big price consider that they should be allowed to run it in their own way. The sentiment that the general good of the city in preference to momentary consideration should prevail appears to have many friends.

The two big base ball leagues and three smaller ones open their regular season this week. In another week all the leagues will be started on their season's work—or play, is it?—and every one will have a chance to see the national game if he cares to sit out in the rather unseasonable weather. But a week or ten days may bring a change which will make base ball enjoyable.

The wage increase in New England textile mills, which is estimated to add $12,000,000 to the pay rolls in the next year, has encouraged other workers to ask for more money, and in at least a dozen manufacturing centres evident dissatisfaction gives promise of trouble between the manufacturers and operatives.

According to pictures shown in the New York papers, some of the gowns and hats worn by women in the Easter parade in that city were monstrosities, not to say abominations.

The board of aldermen ought to settle the garbage collection question once for all. The present method of doing, or rather not doing, it is a disgrace to the city.

March seemingly cannot make up its mind to let go, and give April a fair chance at good weather.

WHEN THE TRAIN COMES IN.

A Busy Railroad Station May Freely be Classed Among Humorous Picture Books.

[New York Evening Post.]

A busy railroad station is a grand child's picture book, for him who observes it. All the child has to do is to looks; the leaves are turned before him. There, in all the colors of the rainbow, are countless pictures to cram himself with. And what is a rather curious fact is that a railroad station may freely be classed among humorous picture books. Other picture books, such as church, theatre, Broadway, Fifth Avenue, political meeting, ball game, and so forth, have, of course, many funny pictures. But, whether it is that almost all absurd people constantly travel, and those with no touch of the motley do but seldom, or whether, as here, nothing else goes forward seriously to occupy the attention, one's mind is left more free to be struck by the ridiculousness of all mankind so it is that perhaps as humorous a place as one may find is a busy railroad station. And one must be very blase who no longer feels an enjoyable stimulation at the approach of an expected train at the station.

The psychology of the arrival of a railroad train at the station belongs to the proper study of mankind, and could be made into an interesting little monograph. As the train becomes due one feels but half a mind on the conversation, supposing one to be conversing; the other half is waiting for the train. One has, too, a feeling, faint at first, looming stronger within one's against continuing to sit quietly inside [supposing one to have gone within] where one is. An impelling to go see if the train is not coming numbs one's brain. A like contagious restlessness breathes through the waiting room. People begin to stand up by their grips. Some go without on the search. They can be seen through the windows pacing the platform; they return, some of them and one scans their expressions eagerly—they are discouragingly blank. After a bit they go out again, or others do, and return as before; wholly unfitted now one can see, for any concentration of thought.

The train is late. There is an alarm or two. At last an unmistakable elasticity impregnates the place. A distant whistle is heard, it stirs one like the tap of a drum. The train is coming! One's pulse beats high as one moves into the press toward the doorway. The whistle is heard much nearer. Then again and again! Then with a whirl that turns one a somersault inside, a long dark, heavy mass rushes across the light before one. When one comes again on one's feet, speaking figuratively, the train is standing there and one hurries on to get a seat. But, first, one is stopped until arriving passengers get off.

Burrillville Town Meeting Appropriations—Complainants Themselves Caught.

The Rhode Island Conference, embracing all the Congregational churches of this state, has been granted a charter by Secretary of State J. Fred Parker. The incorporators are Edward L. Marsh, Arthur W. Claflin, Charles H. George and James E. McConnell, all of Providence; C. Fremont Roper of Riverpoint, Nathan W. Littlefield and Eric I. Lindh of Pawtucket. The main office or headquarters of the conference is to be located in Providence. The corporation is constituted for the purpose of uniting more closely the Congregational churches of this state with each other and with the National Council of the Congregational Churches of the United States in Christian work; to acquire and deal in real estate and to make by-laws for the admission of the members to the corporation and to regulate the terms and conditions of membership therein.

The taxpayers of Burrillville, in annual financial town meeting Saturday afternoon, made appropriations aggregating $59,650. Besides those for the ordinary business of the town there were four special appropriations, including $2,500 for repairing the abandoned South Main Street school in Pascoag, $1,000 for repairing and grading Irving avenue in Pascoag, $4,000 for finishing the paving of Main street in Pascoag, and $1,000 for fighting forest fires. The tax rate was fixed at $13 on each $1,000 of valuation. A motion that it be $12 on each $1,000 received little favor, the vote to continue the $13 rate being almost unanimous.

Some of the prominent citizens of Edgewood, who in the past have protested strenuously against the way some Providence motorists were disregarding the speed laws after they had crossed the Providence line into Cranston, were themselves caught in the automobile traps set by Chief of Police Daniel A. Kiernan of Cranston Sunday morning. There has been much complaint that the speeding of Providence automobilists was destroying the macadamized road which was built last year, but Chief Kiernan's men were made up largely of Edgewood men. There were three separate traps on Broad street which had been laid out and measured by the city surveyor and the machines were timed with the aid of two stop watches. When the Cranston automobile squad quit work at night they had the names of 18 owners of automobiles who, the police allege, played havoc with the speed laws. Chief Kiernan said that, as it was the first time the traps had been set, he will content himself with notifying the lawbreakers that they must not do it again. One of the number may appear in court, however, as he resented in vigorous language the admonitions of the police and practically dared them to do their worst.

John M. Turner, second lieutenant of Company C, Second regiment, Rhode Island volunteers, and a life-long resident of Lincoln, died in New York last week while on his way home from the West, where he had been for a considerable length of time in search of health. Death was due to pneumonia. He was in his seventy-ninth year. After attending the schools of his native town he learned the shipbuilding trade. When Abraham Lincoln called upon the country for volunteers Mr. Turner enlisted as a private in Company I June 6, 1861, and July 24, the next year, was promoted to commissary sergeant and transferred to the non-commissioned staff, September 24, 1863. Mr. Turner was mustered in as second lieutenant and assigned to Company I. The following month he was placed in command of Company K, and continued until February, 1864. In March of the same year he was assigned to special duty as acting regimental quartermaster and was so borne until May of that year. He was mustered out June 17, 1864. When he returned from the war he took up the carpentering and building trade. He was a member of the Grand Army of the Republic, and for many years was a vestryman of St. John's Chapel, Ashton.

John Champlin Hall, who March 21 celebrated his ninety fourth birthday, died Sunday of illness due to advanced age at his home in Warren. He was apprenticed to Colonel Samuel Pearce to learn the carpenter's trade, serving four years and earning $30 a year. He then started in business for himself as a general contractor and builder. Many of the best of the public buildings of the town and also many of the finest residences were erected by him. In 1849 he framed several houses which were shipped around "the Horn" in sections and erected in San Francisco. Some of these were standing as late as 1886. The buildings at Rocky Point, one of the earliest of Rhode Island's shore resorts, he also erected going from and to Warren each day with his men in whaleboats. In partnership with the late Henry F. Drown he built No. 2 cotton mill and many of the tenements for the Warren Manufacturing Company in Warren. Mr. Hall was active in the Dorr rebellion and identified himself with the Law and Order forces, guarding the brass cannon of the Warren Artillery in Warren from capture by the Dorrites in 1842. From that time for the period of 60 years he refrained from voting at local elections.

City Weigher Charles D. Cobb of Providence, who was stricken with cerebral hemorrhage in his office at the city hall Saturday evening, is in a dangerous condition at the Rhode Island Hospital. He has not recovered consciousness and little hope for his recovery is held out by the authorities. Mr. Cobb was found stretched on the floor of his office and was taken to the hospital, where the surgeons diagnosed his case as cerebral hemorrhage. It is believed that he was stricken just as he was about to close his office for the night. Late in February City Weigher Cobb presented his resignation to the city council. He though that his service, beginning way back in 1877, warranted a vacation. Pressure was brought to bear on him and he withdrew his resignation and announced that he would continue in office if his friends wished him to do so.

Rev. F. B. Murch, Ph. D., the new pastor of the First United Presbyterian Church, Providence, preached his first sermon there Sunday morning before a congregation which filled the house to its capacity. He comes from Greenwich, N. Y. His sermon was one of greeting, while at the evening gathering he delivered an Easter address. At the conclusion of the service it was announced that Rev. Dr. Murch will be associated with the Boston Presbytery of the United Presbyterian Church, and that his formal installation service will be held in a month.

The Roman Catholics in charge of arrangements for the twenty-fifth anniversary reception to Bishop Harkins hope to present him a purse of $50,000 on the night of the anniversary, April 15. Much of the sum has already been subscribed, and it is expected that the bishop will use it for the benefit of the charities in the diocese. If expectations are fulfilled, Governor Pothier will be present to represent the state, President Faunce of Brown University will speak, and Bishop Perry of the Protestant Episcopal diocese will deliver a congratulatory address. Others who will probably speak will be the bishop himself, Rt. Rev. Mgr. Doran, vicar general of the diocese, and Colonel P. H. Quinn, president of the Catholic Club.

According to an announcement made at the reception given to Governor Pothier at Holy Cross College recently, Rhode Island's chief executive is to become an alumnus of that institution in June. At the reception Rev. Joseph N. Dinand, S. J., president of the college, announced that a degree would be conferred upon the governor at Commencement.

REPORTED HERE BY WIRELESS.

Steamer Ontario, With Fire in Her Hold, Beached Off Montauk Point.

At an early hour this morning the wireless operators at the Torpedo Station and at Point Judith picked up a message to the effect that the Merchant and Miners' Line steamship Ontario was between Block Island and Montauk Point, with a fire in her fore hold. The first report was not taken to indicate that the ship or her passengers were in any particular peril, but about 3 o'clock another message was received that the ship was making for the beach at Montauk and the seriousness of the situation was at once realized.

District Superintendent Knowles, at his home at Wakefield, was telephoned from the Point and at once issued orders to all life saving stations in the district to stand by. He ordered the Watch Hill crew to start for the scene in the power boat and also notified Wrecker Scott at New London, asking that he send one of his craft to the scene. As a result of this request the powerful wrecker and lighter Tasco were soon under way for the scene. Next he ordered all the stations to scour their localities for vessels which might be available to go to the rescue, and to dispatch them if possible.

Captain Kenyon of the Brenton's Point station by diligent use of the telephone had all the watchmen along the shore front whom he could raise talk about their localities. Only two ones were reported as being in, one at Hastings & Manchester's and one at the Old Colony dock. One was too small for the trip and the other the captain claimed could not be under way for hours. Power lifeboat Ida Lewis would have been ordered to proceed, but owing to the rigorous winter in the ice in the cove, where her moorings are located she is hauled out on the beach, undergoing repairs. The government has not a vessel in port which could be used for the trip.

In the meantime the Torpedo Station wireless was sending out a cry of distress to all vessels which might be within distance, to render aid. One of the first to reply that she was on her way was revenue cutter Acushnet, which was down toward the Vineyard. Other craft replied and turned from their courses.

At 6 o'clock news was received that the fire was under control, that the crew were still on board, that the cargo had been destroyed and the ship seriously damaged.

About 5 o'clock one of the Merchants' & Miners' steamers plying to Providence and Fall River came in and proceeded up the bay. The wireless station operators here tried to attract her attention, but not knowing her wireless call if she was such, was unable to advise her of the plight of her sister ship.

Captain O'Neill of tug Sollctor was called up, and while his boat was too small for the trip, especially with the wind blowing as it was during the night, he went out to see what he could do, with the tugs he found in port. It was impossible to prevail on any of them to take the chance of going out, for they said that before they could be underway some of the revenue cutters would have responded to the wireless call and they would have their trip for nothing.

This is the first time since the use of wireless that there has been a call for assistance from a ship on fire in this locality. Had not the crew had an effective fire-fighting equipment and the valiant work the call probably would have proved of untold value, saving much suffering to passengers and crew from being forced to spend many hours drifting about in a heavy sea in small boats or on rafts, where the exposure would have been great.

The Ontario, which left Baltimore for Boston Saturday, is the largest and one of the newest vessels of the line. Built in 1901 at Camden, N. J., of steel, she is 292.2 feet long, has a gross tonnage of 3,082 and accommodations for nearly 100 passengers.

An Associated Press despatch from the Ditch Plain life saving station says the Ontario, with 31 passengers and a crew of 40, was run on the rocks of Montauk point, with a growing fire in her hold. The passengers were transferred in lifeboats to tug Tasco, from New London, and after six hours' work the fire in the Ontario's hold was brought under control. The vessel is now aground, with a light sea running, and but little wind, and there is little danger, apparently, of going to pieces. Life savers hovered near the vessel in their boats all the morning in readiness to take off the crew, but Captain William J. Bond, when the fire was under control, declared that there would be no need for their services. Three revenue cutters are now standing alongside.

A breeches buoy was shot to the vessel from shore when she went on the rocks at 3 o'clock, but the captain, after transferring the passengers to a tug, sent word by life savers that his crew would remain on board. Long before daylight they had chopped a dozen holes through the pilot house and deck, and hundreds of gallons of water, pumped by the vessel's own engines, were poured into the hold. At 6 o'clock Captain Bond sent word ashore that the progress of the fire had been checked.

The fire broke out during the night and became so threatening that shortly before 2 o'clock Captain Bond ordered the wireless operator to send "S O S" distress signals. An hour later he turned back upon his course and drove the vessel full speed ahead for the reefs off Montauk point, believing that otherwise the vessel would be ordered at sea.

When the Montauk Point lighthouse men saw the ship on the rocks, the life saving crew hurried off with a breeches buoy apparatus and later launched their surf boat on the trunk line motor over the beach to the burning steamer. The life savers, followed by a crew from the Ditch Plain station, two miles away, transferred the passengers in small boats to the tug and stood off in readiness to take the crew ashore if need be. The passengers were transferred in the life boats.

Although the flames could not be seen, a great cloud of steam and smoke arose from the burning ship and a haze along the water for five miles. Captain Bond told the life savers the fire was confined entirely to the hold. The hull of the ship was badly blistered on the outside.

The exact location of the Ontario is 15 miles east of the Ditch plain station and a mile and a half west of Montauk point light. Revenue cutters Acushnet and Seneca picked up the wireless call at New York and cutter Gresham at Boston and hurried to the scene. They were able to give but little assistance, however.

At 6:30 o'clock Captain Bond sent word ashore that the fire was under

"BIG" SPEAKERS UNAVAILABLE.

Secretary Chapin in Touch with Several for the Men and Religion Movement.

Mr. W. H. Chapin, chairman of the program committee of the Men and Religion movement, is back from New York, where he was sent by the executive committee in the effort to secure notable speakers for the Newport meetings. No less than 30 different men were considered or interviewed without results. It was of course necessary to look up the records of many of these before consulting them, in order to know if they would be satisfactory. Unfortunately, all the big men who can always be counted upon to draw have engagements, which make it impossible for them to come to Newport. Mr. Chapin, however, succeeded in coming in touch with two or three prominent public speakers, not connected with the national headquarters of the movement, and is awaiting an early reply from them. It is deemed imperative by the success of the meetings to bring some speakers of nation-wide reputation here.

Mr. Oscar A. Phelps of Hartford, Conn., was today secured as one of the speakers. He is one of the social and mission workers in the East side of Hartford, has been recently participating in the Men and Religion campaign throughout Connecticut, and is regarded as one of the most interesting speakers in the movement. Mr. Phelps will speak here on social service.

Pastors of the various churches called attention Sunday, to the coming campaign. There is a plan that next Sunday pastors exchange pulpits and take the Movement as their theme. It is desirable that each church see that its best men attend the opening dinner and tickets will be sent to the churches. The "sinews of war" have not been forgotten. It is not expected that collections will be taken at the public meetings and in order to avoid this the budget has been apportioned to the different churches.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—Mr. Thomas E. Hunt spent Sunday in Providence.

—Miss Mae Sayer is spending her Easter vacation in Washington.

—Mr. and Mrs. Richard O'Neill are spending the Easter week in New York.

—The Tuft campaign has reached Newport and buttons and lithographs have been distributed.

—Mrs. Stanley C. Hughes and her mother, Mrs. William Dudley Foulke, are visiting in Bethel, Maine.

—Mrs. Thomas G. Brown and her daughter, Miss Helen Brown, have returned from an extended trip abroad.

—Miss Anna Sullivan and Miss Jennie Titus entertained a number of local and out-of-town guests Sunday evening.

—Postmaster and Mrs. Burlingame and Mr. and Mrs. William H. Lee will sail for Bermuda April 20, to remain 10 days.

—Mr. Edward A. Martin of the Newport Transfer Company left Saturday for a trip to Niagara Falls and spent Sunday in New York.

—Miss Grace B. Gilpin and Miss Louise Mills will leave tonight for Lyndhurst, N. J., where they will be guests for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. Harold F. Gilpin.

—Mr. John A. Gillis, who has been in British Columbia for the past year and a half, is spending the Easter holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Gillis, on Brandt street.

—Miss Clara A. Stanhope, who is teaching at Hackensack, N. J., is spending her Easter vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Stanhope, on John street.

—Mr. Alexander D. MacLellan of the Kingston State Agricultural College, is spending his spring vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alexander MacLellan, on John street.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Cottrell of State College, Pa., and Mr. and Mrs. Alexander S. Ackerman of Sandwich, Mass., spent Easter with Mr. Robert C. Cottrell on Francis street.

—Envoy Barnard of the Salvation Army, representing Adjutant Clifford of Providence, is here in the interests of the industrial department, which has relieved a large number of cases of need at its Wickenden Street Industrial Home, in that city.

—The Salvation Army had a Sunday School Easter Concert, and received another new member. The platform was decorated with green and Easter lilies. "Self denial week" was brought to a successful close, all who had offerings presenting them at the alter service.

—The Forty Hours Devotion was begun at St. Joseph's Church Sunday after the solemn high mass at 10:30, with the procession of the sacrament. It will close Tuesday morning, with services at the usual hours. A number of priests from out of town are in attendance for the services.

—Miss Margaret M. Crowther, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph H. Crowther, will be married in St. Augustin's Church on the afternoon of April 10 to Ralph B. Wallace, U. S. N., of Kansas City. Miss Crowther was formerly employed in the Newport Herald office and a member of St. Mary's Church choir.

—The committee on the social entertainment for the benefit of the Animal Refuge has secured the Aquidneck House, which affords conveniences for such an affair. Although the hotel will not be formally opened until later in the season, it has been comfortable for the various parties held there this winter.

—In accordance with an ante-nuptial agreement Robert H. I. Goddard and Frank W. Matteson have deeded to Sophia Augusta Brown the estate bounded north on Shepard avenue, east on Wetmore avenue, south on Victoria avenue and west on land formerly of the heirs of Alfred Smith. This is the Sherman estate.

—The troupe of high school boys who form the human pyramids in the Young Men's Christian Association circus were photographed in the yard circus were photographed in the yard at the Association this noon. They carried coats and wraps over their costumes, removing them only long enough for the photographer to snap the picture, for it was cold.

—It looks as though the spring were here: that is, if one reads the police report and does not go outdoors. A stray cow was reported in the yard of the Young Men's Christian Association on Mary street and Pound Keeper Hallock was notified. The general impression is that the cow was too previous, as the grazing is still light for any but hens and goats.

—General Secretary Andrews of the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association has gone to New York to attend a conference of sailors at the Brooklyn Association. The delegates to this conference are composed of enlisted men on various battleships and naval stations, enrolled in the Moral Club. One of the items of business to be determined is the place for this summer's annual conference, which will be held probably either in Newport or Brooklyn.

TRADE UNIONISM.

John Mitchell, the Great Labor Leader, Speaks for Movement.

Representative Audience in Colonial Theatre Told the Philosophy, Purposes and Ideals.

An audience representative of men in various professions and walks of life filled the Colonial Theatre Sunday afternoon to hear Mr. John Mitchell, the well known labor leader, speak in behalf of the cause of labor unions. It was an unusual gathering in a way, comprising men of different interests, but showing that all are more or less interested in the great question of labor. There were present Mayor Boyle, Aldermen Leddy and Hughes, ex-Senator Murphy, Park Commissioner McLeish, F. F. Nolan, Superintendent of Schools Lull, several clergymen and a sprinkling of women, who proved attentive listeners, judging from the heartiness with which they joined in the hand clapping.

Seated on the stage were the heads of the trade unions of the city—Messrs. Thomas F. Gough, former president of the Central Labor Union; Louis A. Glanding, secretary of the Typographical Union; Dennis W. Maher, Carpenters' Union; Thomas Culkin, Teamsters' Union; Patrick Houlihan, Bartenders' Union, and Eben Raynor, Machinists' Union.

Mr. John J. Reavey, president of the Central Labor Union, acted as chairman and prefaced the introduction of the speaker with brief remarks in regard to the Central Labor Union. It is necessary to have the backing of the public, he said, and when the public understand the unions and their purpose he believed it would give its support. He said the conditions in this state are rotten and the plan is to take up questions one by one; there are several vital questions, such as convict labor, employers' liability and compensation.

He then introduced Mr. Mitchell, vice president of the American Federation of Labor, whose name created an enthusiastic burst of applause. His subject was "The Philosophy, Purposes and Ideals of Trade Unions" and Mr. Mitchel said among other things:

The fundamental principle of trade unionism is plain, clear and simple. It starts from the recognition of the fact that under normal conditions the individual, unorganized workman cannot bargain advantageously with the employer for the sale of his labor. Since the workingman has no money in reserve and must sell his labor immediately; since, moreover, he has no knowledge of the market, and no skill in bargaining; because, finally, he has only his own labor to sell, while the employer engages hundreds or even thousands of men, and can easily do without the services of any one of them, the workingman, if bargaining on his own account and for himself alone, is at an obvious disadvantage. Trade unionism recognizes the fact that under such conditions labor becomes more and more degenerate, because labor, which the workingman sells, is, unlike other commodities, a thing which is of his very life and soul and being.

In the individual contract between a powerful employer and a single workman the laborer will secure the worst of the bargain. There can be no permanent prosperity to the wage earner, no real and lasting progress, no consecutive improvement in conditions, until the principle is firmly and fully established that the settlement of all questions must be made between employers and workmen collectively and not individually.

The ideal of trade unionism is to combine in one organization all the men employed in a given trade and to demand and secure for each and all of them a definite minimum standard of wages, hours of labor and conditions of work. By this is not meant that the wages of all men shall be the same, but equal pay shall be given for equal work.

In the pursuit of this ideal the workingman has sought strength in the union and has associated himself with labor federations through which he strives to secure the following:

A minimum wage which will enable men and women to live in a manner comfortable according to American standards, to educate their children, and to make adequate provisions for sickness and old age.

The eight-hour work day, which gives opportunity for the cultivation of home life and the use of books, music and wisely employed leisure.

Legislation making it unlawful for children of tender years and frail physique to be employed in gainful pursuits.

Laws providing for the safeguarding of lives and limbs of workers engaged in dangerous occupations and for compensation for injuries sustained in the course of employment.

The progressive improvement of the sanitary working and housing conditions of the wage earners.

The preservation of the constitutional guarantees of trial by jury, free speech and a free press.

Mr. Mitchell said that strikes are a thing as little desired by the unions as by the workmen, and often cost the latter more than there was to be gained. Still, it is necessary at different times to make certain sacrifices, otherwise many employers would take advantage of their unwillingness to strike.

The speaker took occasion to denounce violence severely, adding that if the success of strikes depended upon riot and bloodshed he would have no connection with the unions.

The critics of trade unions allege that a reduction in the hours of labor means more time for drinking and dissipation. This assertion reiterated incessantly, has been completely refuted by every day experience and by the history of the labor movement. The unanimous testimony of all com-

WILL OF GEORGE S. SCOTT.

Personal Property and a Million Dollars in Trust for the Widow.

Remainder of the Estate Given to the Three Children or Their Descendants.

In the probate court this morning the will of Milton Hall was proved and letters testamentary thereon were granted to Hannah F. Hall. Notice was waived and the will and codicil of George S. Scott was proved and letters testamentary thereon were granted to Augusta Isham Scott of Newport and George Isham Scott and John W. Sterling of New York. Letters of administration on the estate of Herbert W. Kingman were granted to Annie T. Kingman. Notice was waived and letters of administration on the estate of Joseph D. Peckham were granted to Annie L. Peckham and on the estate of John W. Griffith to Annie L. Griffith. James M. Fitzgerald was appointed guardian of the estate of Gertrude Fitzgerald. The first and final account of the executor of the estate of Thomas F. Cushing was allowed. Permission was granted to sell at private sale personal property of the estate of Bridget Sullivan. The inventory of the estate of Bridget Sullivan was allowed.

The petition for probate of the will of Francis M. Breeze was again continued for further hearing. The consideration of the first and final account of the administrator with the will annexed on the estate of John H. Sanborn was continued to April 15. The petition for administration on the estate of Daniel L. Briggs was continued to May 6.

The will of George S. Scott disposes of an estate of some proportions, judging by the fourth clause of the will. It leaves to his wife, Augusta Isham Scott, the books, paintings, jewelry, household effects, horses, carriages, etc. and makes provision in case of her death for the distribution of the estate among his children—Louise Scott, George Isham Scott and Charles Henry Scott. In view of the fact that Mrs. Scott survives, this clause is inoperative.

The fourth clause leaves $1,000,000 in trust for the use of his wife, to receive the income during her lifetime and at her death to go to the residuary estate. The rest of the estate is given to the children, share and share alike, or to the descendants of the children, the share of George Isham Scott to go direct to him and those of the others to be handled by the trustees and the income paid to them. In case of any litigation over the estate the cost of the litigation is to be taken from the part which would be paid to the litigant.

The trustees are given authority to change investments and do what they think best in the matter of selling.

His wife, Augusta Isham Scott, his son, George Isham Scott, and his friend, John W. Sterling of New York, are appointed executors and trustees.

The will was made May 9, 1904. There is a codicil made August 5, 1911, which gives $5,000 to Theresa Scott of Philadelphia and revokes article 6, which provides for the distribution, substituting other words. It also revokes article 8, which provided for the distribution of the estate on the death of his wife and postpones such distribution until the death of his granddaughter, Jeanne Marie Scott.

In case there are, on the death of his wife and the last of his children, no descendants to whom the property may be turned over, then the Rector, Church Wardens and Vestrymen of St. Thomas Church, New York, become the residuary legatees, to erect a building or buildings to be called the Scott Memorial Hall, for the care of persons suffering from tuberculosis.

EXTRAVAGANCE OF THE SENATE.

Kenyon's Criticism Based on Aldrich's Remarks About Economy.

Increased Cost of Congress—A Western Financial Expert—Statesmen Look Like Lincoln.

[Washington correspondence of The News.]

WASHINGTON, April 6.—From time to time the remark of former Senator Aldrich to the effect that the government could save $300,000,000 if economically administered returns to plague our statesmen, especially those who are not given to the practice of economy. Discussing the pension legislation not long ago, Senator Kenyon of Iowa brought forth the Aldrich statement and then proceeded to vigorously criticise the Senate and Senators for extravagance.

It is a fact that if Aldrich's business man was to take hold of the finances of the government about the first thing he would do in the way of cutting down expenses would be to pare down the big and little extravagances of Congress, including much that is luxurious and most of which has been added in the last 20 years. Perhaps Congress does not realize how much it has added in the way of office buildings, furniture, fixings, clerks, messengers and employes, also in increase of salaries, but the Congress of the present costs one third more than the Congress of 20 years ago.

It is scarcely to be expected that from a farming district in Minnesota there would come a real financial expert, but it appears that Congressman Lindbergh, by careful investigation, has equipped himself for that role. Lindbergh has made the subject of currency and finances a study, and any man who has a taste for a certain line and gives his time to it can become very proficient.

Two venerable Illinois men, Senator Cullom and Congressman Cannon, look like Lincoln. They at least have the fringe of whiskers that is so common in many pictures of Lincoln. Cullom is trying to have a suitable memorial for Lincoln erected in Washington. Cannon recently introduced a bill to purchase a life size portrait of Lincoln to be hung in the Capitol. Perhaps he wants people to see that he resembles the war President. Cullom and Cannon are the only men in public life that know Lincoln.

Henry Neal is the messenger at the Speaker's door. He has held the same position under half a dozen Speakers During that time he has been faithful to the man in the chair and has at times been disappointed because the Speaker was not made President.

Said a man to Neal the other day, "You never saw a man go from the Speakership to the White House."

"That is very true—very true," responded Neal. "But all the others had to appoint committees. They had the power of recognition for unanimous consents. They made enemies, and this man (Clark) has had no occasion to make enemies. Mr. Clark has had no troubles and lost none of his friends. It makes a heap of difference."

Senator Lodge is both gratified and surprised at the demand which has been made for the speech he delivered at Raleigh, N. C., last fall. Already 400,000 copies, have been printed and circulated, and requests are coming for more. That was the speech in which he took direct issue with the ideas and opinions subsequently announced by his friend Roosevelt. Lodge's speech is used to offset Roosevelt's teachings.

If Congressman Raker could have his way he would have California dotted and covered with national parks. He has introduced bills for numerous parks in that state. Of course California has the park possibilities. The state has many beauty spots and wonder regions. If Raker is encouraged he will have all of them made national parks.

Congressman Slemp of Virginia and Austin of Tennessee enjoy the game of golf. Any one could tell that they are from mountain districts by watching their game. They have selected a golf course here which is rough and mountainous, with high hills and deep valleys. It reminds them of the regions of western Virginia and eastern Tennessee.

Some one in the House was attempting to give credit to Congressman Sulzer for the resolution which provided for raising the Maine from Havana harbor. Congressman Mann combatted the statement, saying that the resolution adopted was not introduced by Sulzer, but was reported from the naval committee by Congressman Loud of Michigan, "and that when it came to the House and was finally adopted in the form that it was I drew it myself."

At the same time Sulzer has been introducing and advocating just such a resolution for many years.

CHICAGO SALOON MEN SUED.

Damage Sought on Claim That Murderers of Mrs. Kaufman Were Intoxicated.

Suits aggregating $175,000 have been filed in Chicago against saloon keepers and the owners of the buildings in which the saloons are located because of the sale of liquor to the four convicted slayers of Mrs. Hattie Kaufman. Relatives of the convicted men have joined the husband of the slain woman and his children in bringing the suits. It will be charged that the crime was due to the intoxication of the murderers.

The suits are being brought under the dramshop law of Illinois. It is held by lawyers that a verdict in favor of the plaintiffs, of whom there are 10, may revolutionize the sale of liquor in the state. Four saloons are involved in the suits.

Mrs. Kaufman was shot and killed last December while on her way home from a theatre with her husband. The men convicted of the crime and sent to the penitentiary are George Rabenau, John D. Stacey, William Channell and Fred Boneham.

MUCH INTEREST IN THE LION.

Recently Finished British Battle Cruiser May be Model for the United States Navy.

Naval officers in Washington are keenly interested in the confidential reports received concerning British battle cruiser Lion, built at Devonport. The Lion was launched August 8, 1910, and completed in November, 1911. There has been the greatest secrecy concerning her, so that every bit of information received has caused much comment.

From what has been learned the Lion is fitted with Parsons turbines and 42 Yarrow water tube boilers. The length of the vessel is 660 feet, beam 88.6 feet displacement 26,360 tons, designed horse power 70,000 and designed speed 28 knots.

She had her eight-hour full power trial in the English channel January 8, and it is understood that she made more than 30 knots. Her main armament is eight 13.5-inch guns mounted on the centre line and so arranged that all can fire on either broadside. She has sixteen 4-inch guns and three 21-inch submerged torpedo tubes. The armor extends from the upper deck to about seven feet below the water line.

The success of the Lion and her great speed has focussed attention on the battle cruiser, so that many naval authorities are looking toward the day when vessels of this type will be provided for the United States navy. The attitude of Secretary Meyer is that he would be glad to see vessels of this type added to the navy, but does not wish to see the battleship building program this year curtailed to make way for a battle cruiser.

A CRUISING MOTOR YACHT.

Being Built for Messrs. C. L. F. Robinson and N. Bruce MacKelvie of the New York Club.

Messrs. N. Bruce MacKelvie and C. L. F. Robinson, both members of the New York Yacht Club, are having built at the yard of the Hudson Yacht & Boat Company at Nyack, N. Y., a cruising motor yacht, 90 feet over all, 15 feet beam an 4 feet draught, from the designs of Whittemey & Whittemey, of New York.

The raised deck type of design has been followed, with innovations. There is a sunken deck house, giving a dining room 17 feet long. Side windows will be in every stateroom. The bridge is aft the deck house, and abaft of the latter a funnel into which the engines will exhaust. The stern is of the overhanging transom type, with a flat underbody.

The accommodations below deck consist of a forecastle and the captain's room, with places for stores and the galley. The engine room is amidships, and is followed by the gasoline tanks, of copper, three in number, containing 750 gallons. The tanks are set in a watertight compartment, which will be flushed from the sea.

The owners' stateroom follows aft and is the full width of the boat. There is a bathroom on the port side and a companionway on the starboard side. Then come two double guests' staterooms, and from the one furthest aft, a companionway leads to the after deck.

Polished African mahogany with white bulkheads and side panelling will be the finish of the owners' quarters. The deck house and all deck joiner work will also be finished in African mahogany, and the engine room, crews' quarters and galley in pine and painted. The yacht will be lighted with electricity.

Two six-cylinder Sterling motors of 80 horse power each will be fitted, which are expected to give the boat a speed of 16½ miles an hour.

Delivery of the yacht will be made early in June, and next winter she will visit Florida waters.

LOCAL BRIEFS.

—The School Committee will hold its monthly meeting this evening.

—Mr. and Mrs. Ogden Mills and Mrs. Maturin Livingston will sail for Europe April 13.

—Mr. George H. Taber of New York is guest of his brother, Mr. Charles H. Taber, on Lincoln street.

—Mrs. Walter N. Hill, Miss Smith and Miss Hill are in Washington. They will return to Newport the middle of next week.

—Miss Eleanor Roelker, daughter of the late William G. Roelker, will be guest this week of Miss Helen Taft at the White House.

—Mrs. Henry Symes Lehr has purchased a tract of land on New Hampshire avenue, Washington, on which she will erect a residence.

—Mr. and Mrs. Edwin D. Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. Delancy K. Jay returned from Europe on the Baltic, arriving in New York Saturday.

—Mr. Julian T. Davies will give a dinner Tuesday evening at the Metropolitan Club, New York, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Martin.

—Mr. and Mrs. George L. Rives and Miss Rives, who were here for Easter, Mrs. T. K. Gibbs and Miss Roberta Willard left this morning for New York, via steamer General.

—Mr. and Mrs. William Storrs Cooper announce the marriage of their niece, Anna Pell Cooper, to Mr. DuBois Remsen, March 6, 1912. Mr. and Mrs. Remsen will reside in Roswell, Va.

—Among the Harvard graduates who contributed to the $420 gift to the Brown University endowment fund were Daniel B. Fearing, Edward K. Stevens, William Binney, Samuel Powel and Hugh B. Baker.

—Saturday Touro Park was cleaned up and this morning Contractor Butler's men were at work grooming the Mall. It seems rather surprising how many of the long iron pins holding the benches in place are hauled out and the large number of large stones which find their way on the grass.

—At the inquest into the death of Mrs. Beeckman Lorillard in the Hoffman House, New York, March 16, the coroner closed the proceedings, after the husband and mother of the dead woman had testified. The coroner's verdict was that Mrs. Lorillard had come to her death by hanging herself.

—Miss Marie Coudray, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Coudray, left Sunday night for New York, en route to Washington to spend her Easter vacation with her aunt, Mrs. C. B. Carter. Misses Alva Parker and Mary Harvey accompanied her to New York.

—The Rogers High School basket ball team will have this evening at Muenchinger's the banquet given by the Athletic Association in appreciation of the fine work done during the past season, and for winning the championship of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. Besides the team, there will be a number of guests, who will speak.

—Jacob Aronson is to open a small cigar factory in the store now occupied by E. S. Peckham's up-town office. He expects to begin operations April 15 and with four cigar makers to produce two brands. During the past few years there have been at various times several factories here of greater or less extent, and at present there is one with a brand quite generally known.

JUDGE DODGE FIXES DATE.

April 12 Set for Persons to Appear in Objection to Petition.

Receiver Recommends That Property of Rhode Island Coal Company be Sold Forthwith.

On the petition of John T. Burnett, receiver for the Rhode Island Coal Company, for leave to sell the property, Judge Dodge in the United States district court Saturday issued an order fixing April 12 for persons to appear in objection.

Mr. Burnett, who was appointed on the petition of President Henry M. Whitney, filed his second report as receiver and a petition for instructions. In his report he sets forth that, it being doubtful about borrowing any more money, he has ceased to operate the mine and has discharged all employes of the company except such as are necessary to keep the water pumped out and other incidental work on hand and the necessary bookkeeping.

The receiver recommends that the property be sold forthwith unless parties of interest have other suggestions to make. There was on hand, April 1, according to the report of the receiver, $3,700 cash, about $10,000 accounts receivable and about $5,500 worth of coal. There was owed, March 30, $3,900 besides the $25,000 in receiver's certificates.

ACOMA'S QUEER GRAVEYARD.

[Wide World Magazine]

What is perhaps the most remarkable graveyard in the United States adjoins the old Spanish church in the ancient Indian pueblo of Acoma, New Mexico, and took over 40 years to construct. The village is situated high in the air upon a huge, flat-topped rock many acres in extent and entirely bare of soil. In order to create the graveyard it was necessary to carry up the earth from the plain 300 feet below, a blanketful at a time, on the backs of Indians who had to climb with their heavy loads up a precipitous trail cut in the face of the cliff. The graveyard thus laboriously constructed is held in place on three sides by high retaining walls of stone.

PHYSICIAN ADVISES CUTICURA REMEDIES

"Four years ago I had places break out on my wrist and on my shin which would itch and burn by spells. I would scratch those places until they would bleed before I could get any relief. Afterwards the places would scale over, and the flesh underneath would look red and feverish. Sometimes it would begin to itch until it would waken me from my sleep, and I would have to go through the scratching ordeal again. Our physician pronounced it 'dry eczema.' I used an ointment which the doctor gave me, but it did no good. Then he advised me to try the Cuticura Remedies. I got the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Pills, and they seemed to be just what I needed. The disease was making a great headway on my wrists until I got the Cuticura Remedies which have cleared my skin. From the time the eczema broke out four years ago, until now, I have never felt any of its pest. I always use the Cuticura Soap for toilet, and I hope other sufferers from skin diseases will use the Cuticura Soap and Ointment." (Signed) Irven Hutchison, Three Rivers, Mich., Mar. 16, 1911.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, a liberal sample of each, with 32-p. book will be sent free, on application to "Cuticura," Dept. RK, Boston.

REPORTED HERE BY WIRELESS.

control. The vessel was hard aground and apparently in no danger of breaking. Tug Tasco, with the Ontario's passengers on board, was still alongside. It was reported that the passengers would be landed at New London.

A wrecking tug is on the way from New York to pull the vessel off the rocks, if possible, when the fire is extinguished.

The following report was wired this forenoon by Captain H. M. Knowles, superintendent of the life saving district, to the chief of the bureau at Washington: "Watch Hill power lifeboat first to reach steamer Ontario, one and a half miles west of Montauk Point, at 5:15 a. m. Davis (keeper of Watch Hill station) reports by wireless passengers safely transferred to wrecking tug Tasco. Wind west-northwest 48 miles."

This was Captain Bond's second experience with fire at sea. He was in command of the Kershaw of the same line when, in August, 1905, she took fire between Norfolk and Boston, with a heavy passenger list. The fire was extinguished by the crew before the steamer reached Boston after about six hours work.

New London reports that 31 passengers from the Ontario were landed from tug Tasco this noon, and expressed themselves as being all right after their experience. The passengers were met by a representative of the Merchants and Miners' line, who had arranged for transporting them to Providence, and boarded a train at once for that city. The Tasco, after landing her passengers, started back at once for the wreck.

BOARD OF ALDERMEN BUSINESS.

The special meeting of the Board of Aldermen this evening promises to be more important than the regular sessions. The bids for the construction of the improvements at the beach and the plumbing will be opened. It may be that the committee on the purchase price of the present buildings will be ready to report.

The committee on ashes collection will have something to say. Saturday, to have the city cleaned up so that people would not have an ash barrel decoration in front of their houses on Easter Sunday, six teams were hired from J. J. Dugan. There were barrels in the Third, Fourth and Fifth wards which had not been taken up and some work was done also in the Second. Mr. Welch has now been trying the collection business for four weeks, and it is the opinion of the committee on collection that it is time for a change.

MUCH LIKE MARCH.

The weather man who promised rain Sunday hit it right on the head. It did rain and it was generally disagreeable after noon, with pleasant conditions in the morning. These changed to real Marchy weather in the afternoon, with wind and dus, and about 6:45 it began to rain. It continued more or less, and blew considerable from the southwest, during the evening. About midnight it shifted from southwest to northwest and the blowing which had preceded was only a preliminary for what followed. It is still blowing from the northwest, but the rain has given way to occasional sunshine and it is still very much like March.

Sunday the temperature at 8 a. m. was 48, 50 at noon and 50 at 2 p. m. The rainfall was .33 inch.

PLENTY OF POWER.

Hassard and Levy of Corporations Committee See Connecticut River Company's Facilities.

Representatives Hassard and Levy of the house committee on corporations returned Saturday night from a trip which was intended to show the committee what the Connecticut River Power Company can do, in reply to the suggestion made by one of the members that it must be proved that the company could supply power to Rhode Island if given the right to operate here. According to the Newport members, they were shown that the company has the means of providing the power and of transmitting it for long distances. Incidentally, the committee were shown that the company's motto is "hustle," for they did some lively going and seeing.

Leaving Providence Friday the party, numbering 28, went to Worcester, where they saw the big plant of the American Steel Works, the street cars and other plants operating with power brought by wire from Vermont. Taking an automobile, they saw a factory at Lancaster employing 6,000 hands, run by the same power, and a comparatively new steam plant costing $280,000, lying idle. As they motored on to Fitchburg they saw other factories run by electricity, and the high power trunk lines erected on tall steel towers instead of poles.

From Fitchburg to Brattleboro the trip was by train and the night was spent at the latter place. Out early in the morning, teams were taken to Vernon, where the Connecticut river is dammed and there are eight big generators, either of which was said to be capable of supplying power for manufacturing purposes, current for light and domestic purposes for the whole of the city of Providence and its immediate vicinity. The party went on to the point where the river is being dammed again three times within a few miles, in the vicinity of Shelburne and Millers Falls. A head of 60 feet is being secured at each dam and the Vernon power station will practically be duplicated at each, for the sum total of power will be something huge.

To conduct the power 200 miles and care for the manufacturing interests of Rhode Island is considered perfectly feasible, as long transmission lines are already in operation in other parts of the country. The company has a contract for the electrification of the Hoosac tunnel, traction engines being used there in place of steam, and is reaching out its electric lines over a wide area. It will mean the saving of a large amount of coal and much labor in the generation of power. The Newport members had their eyes opened as to the possibilities, little imagining that there could be any such thing until they saw it.

REASON FOR ACTION UNKNOWN.

Re-Hearing of the Patent Monopoly Mimeograph Case Refused.

WASHINGTON, April 8.—Re-hearing of the so-called "patent monopoly" mimeograph case was today refused by the Supreme Court of the United States. March 11 the court decided that in selling a patented machine the patentee may require the purchaser to use only such supplies for the machine as are purchased from the owner of the patent, notwithstanding that the supplies are not patentable.

The decision was supported by only four members of the court, Justices Lurton, McKenna, Holmes and Van Deventer. Chief Justice White and Justices Hughes and Lamar dissented, claiming the court had extended the patent law to cover everything in the universe to the detriment of every household in the land. Justice Day was absent during the argument of the case and took no part in the decision. Justice Pitney was not then a member of the court.

The government joined in the application for a re-hearing and asked to be made a party to the case. The rules of the court provide that a re-hearing will not be granted unless a justice who concurred in the judgment desires it. No ground was announced for the court's action today.

CONWAY HOUSE DESTROYED.

Hotel Recently Renovated Throughout for the Summer Trade.

PORTLAND, Maine, April 8.—The destruction by fire of the Conway House at Conway, N. H., early today was reported in a special to the Express Advertiser. The hotel, which had accommodations for 125 guests when open in the summer, and recently had been renovated throughout, was valued at $30,000 and there is an insurance of $10,000. The postoffice was located in the same building and was burned. The amount of stamps and mail on hand in the winter is small. Carleton's general store, across the street, was in danger but was saved. A high wind caused the fire to assume a threatening aspect for a time, but it was confined to the hotel property. A defective chimney was supposed to have caused the fire.

KNOX ARRIVES AT KINGSTON.

The Secretary to Call on the Governor on the Way to San Antonio.

KINGSTON, Jamaica, April 8.—Secretary of State Knox arrived here at 8 o'clock this morning on United States cruiser Washington. As the cruiser entered the port she exchanged salutes with the land batteries and then anchored close to the King Street wharf, where a guard of honor was drawn up. When the colors were hoisted the military band played the "Star Spangled Banner" and "God Save the King."

Lieutenant Colonel L. C. E. Windham, the governor's private secretary and aide de camp, accompanied by Nicholas R. Snyder, United States Consul, then proceeded on board the Washington and escorted Mr. Knox on shore, where a cordial greeting was extended by a large crowd.

The Secretary of State's visit is not an official one, but Mr. Knox has arranged to call on the Governor, Sir Sidney Olivier, while on the way to Port Antonio. The governor is spending the week-end at the country estate of Sir John Pringle, at Cape Clear.

Secretary Knox and his party made a trip around the town in motor cars before proceeding to Port Antonio.

WORK OF AMATEURS.

Burglars Secure Little Loot in Georgiaville and Esmond.

SMITHFIELD, April 8.—Burglars, believed to have been amateurs, made a tour of the adjoining villages of Georgiaville and Esmond in this town, early today but secured very little loot for their efforts. The burglars attempted to rob five places, including one residence and the postoffice, but in only one store, that of Joseph Beauchemin in Georgiaville, were they successful in securing any thing of value. At this store they broke open a nickel slot machine and robbed it of the small sum it contained.

TRADE UNIONISM.

patent observers, ministers, teachers and sociologists has been to the effect that a reduction in the hours of labor invariably means an improvement in the whole moral tone of the community, a raising of the standard of living, a growth of the self-respect of the workingman and a diminution, not an increase, in drunkenness, violence and crime. Is it little wonder that after the workingman has taxed his physical and nervous energies by excessive working hours he seeks stimulation in alcohol or other forms of dissipation?

If trade unionism had rendered no other service to humanity it would have justified its existence by its efforts in behalf of working women and children. Were it not for the influence of trade unionism the work which women and girls are compelled to do would prove even more demoralizing than it is at present. Mr. Mitchell spoke at length of the efforts of the unions in behalf of toiling children, a work in which they have been assisted by the best men and women in every walk of life.

The great new fact of American labor is its organization. The workingman has obtained as a right, not as a privilege, higher wages, shorter hours, better conditions of life and labor. Finally, through the trade agreement, he has secured the right to be consulted as to the conditions under which his work shall be performed.

The trade union movement is primarily and fundamentally a moral movement. While attention is attracted to it because of its strikes and its struggles, yet the battles it fights in defense of the poor and the helpless are but phases of the greater movement for the mental, moral and physical development of the people. There can be no doubt that the movement is onward and upward; it will be helped in days of prosperity and retarded in days of adversity.

FINANCIAL.

NEW YORK, April 8, Wall Street—The market opened with Amalgamated Copper 82⅝, American Beet Sugar 62, American Cotton Oil 54¼, American Smelting and Refining 86¾, Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe 109¾, Baltimore & Ohio 108⅛, Canadian Pacific 248, Chesapeake & Ohio 80½, Erie 37½, Great Northern preferred 135¼, Interborough Metropolitan 20, Missouri Pacific 46, New York Central 113⅝, Northern Pacific ex div. 124¼, Pennsylvania 125, Reading 164¼, Rock Island 29¼, Southern Pacific 115½, Union Pacific 175, United States Steel 73, United States Steel preferred 113¼, Lehigh Valley 165⅝.

10—United States Steel was again the feature on the resumption of operations on the market today. The first offering was a block of 6,000 shares at 73, a gain of ⅜ over last week's closing. There were 1-point gains by Canadian Pacific and Republic Iron & Steel, with substantial fractional gains elsewhere. Amalgamated Copper inclined to heaviness as did also Missouri Pacific.

11—Union Pacific rivalled United States Steel in the early dealings, both advancing to new high prices for the movement, while American Can issues also scored new records. The movement then went into the specialties, including equipment shares, the independent steel issues and tobaccos, while United States Steel, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific soon fell under last week's closing quotations. Dealings diminished and the market showed in various ways the effects of realizing for profits.

Noon—The market here was stimulated by the final settlement of the English coal strike. London markets were closed today, but buying for that centre occurred here in moderate quantities. Reading and Lehigh Valley were the features of the second hour, both adding to early gains on rumors that the Reading case, now before the United States Supreme Court, is likely soon to reach a conclusion. Pennsylvania, long inactive, advanced to its best price in almost a year and New York Central also rose substantially but other standard railway shares were barely steady. Coppers also held back and the movement in specialties slackened, except in American Car & Foundry which touched 61, a gain of 2¼. Liggett & Myers jumped 6½ and Lorillard five points. Trading in the first two hours approximated half a million shares. Money on call firm at 4 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4½ to 4¾ per cent. Exchanges $202,519,034; balances $13,229,370.

THE MEN AND THE CHURCH.

Forward Movement An Attempt to Attract the Interest of the One Toward the Other.

To the Editor of The Daily News:

The census of 1910 tells us that the membership of the churches made a gain of six per cent over the ratio of gain in the total population. This is very encouraging, indeed. Yet how much more could we win out if all members of the churches themselves were alive to their duty and privilege. The women number some two millions more than the men in the membership of the church. Business, pleasure and politics take up the time of the men and prevent that close, sympathetic fellowship with the church that is accorded to it by their wives and sisters. This is unfortunate for the men, and consequently for all.

The Men and Religion Forward Movement, which commences a series of meetings in this city next week, is an attempt along rational lines to win the men and boys of the community to a larger interest in the things for which the church stands. All men and women interested in the welfare of the city should show some interest in this movement. It embraces a manifold purpose. It makes its appeal to every side of our nature. Its "institutes" are for the study of life in its many aspects. Of course the supreme objective is to get men to see that the church has a message and a ministry for them; also, to show them that the church needs their earnest co-operation and helpful service.

The backbone of all beneficent service is found in the spirit and teaching of the Christian church. There is not an "order" or "lodge" of a philanthropic nature but what traces its inception more or less to the spirit of Jesus. Much of the phrasing of their manuals is merely a transcript from the Scriptures. The best of our civilization comes from Christian sources. The church stands for order and decency and high morality. It emphasizes the spirit of fellowship with the poorest and least of God's creatures. With its spiritual ideals and atmosphere it inter-penetrates all life with inspirations to the highest. Why should we not give it our best?

The "Movement" inaugurated is making for sane and helpful religious life. It is bringing to men a sense of personal relationship to God and man. It is pointing out neglected fields of duty lying around us. It is showing the need of the manhood in the community for the life of the church and the help of the church in the life of the man. Let all the men attend some of these services and life will be richer in proportion as we give something to make them helpful to some one else.

PUBLIC GRAFT LEGALIZED.

Opinion That the New Free Pass Plan is as Honest as the Oil Expressed in Rhyme.

To the Editor of The Daily News:

Having read your criticism of the free railway pass bill for our legislators, in an editorial in The News, I have been trying to figure out in my mind whether it would be more of a crime to travel on a pass given according to law, or to travel on a pass given by a railway corporation without the consent of the state, and have come to the conclusion that the men who represent us in the legislature today, and who have voted for free passes, are just as honest as those who preceded them. I enclose my sentiments in rhyme.

Our legislators by their skill
Are working through a free pass bill
And the mileage men throughout the state
Have a greed that's hard to satiate.

For, besides per diem and mileage rate,
By another scheme they would create
A railway pass, whereby they'd be Transported by the railways free.

The scheme seems good and very nice,
But ere it's passed they should think twice,
Because it looks just like a steal
And would not prove for common weal.

As, paid by state, then mileage too,
They constitute the chosen few;
And then to add free pass beside
Is a graft, which they can never hide.

Twixt tweedle dee and tweedle dum
There's but the twisting of the thumb,
Once received as gift, favors to draw,
They'll now collect by force of law.

Alexander MacLolian.

QUIET FOR THE POLICE.

The police have had a rather quiet time during the past two days. Sunday a man for drunkenness received a sentence of five days in jail. Another for carrying a concealed weapon was fined $20 and costs, or $22.60 in all. This was the second time this man has been fined for this offense. An insane man was ordered sent to the asylum. He had been working on a farm in Portsmouth until a few days ago. This morning a reveller paid $7.60.

Officer Corcoran was in from the Coal Mines with a man who paid $7.60 for drunkenness.

Chief Manchester of Tiverton was in town today, looking up the Silvia case, which comes up Friday.

FIRST PRACTICE GAME.

Rogers High School Shows Well in Its Score With Picked Team.

All Stars Win from Hiltons, the Latter Narrowly Escaping a Shut-Out.

The Rogers High School base ball squad had its first practice game Saturday afternoon, with an "All Star" aggregation under the management of Allan Ebbs. The game went nine innings and ended with the score a tie, at 10 to 10. None of the Rogers pitchers were at the lot and Arnold, the prospective short stop, went into the box. On the Stars' line-up was Ney, of the Gaishads, and both pitchers worked well, although both were a trifle wild.

The Stars were made up of city players and college men, but did not have anything on Rogers in any point of the game. Rogers had some new players in the line-up, and some of last year's team, in different positions. Eddy, last year's captain and first baseman; Sullivan, Martland, and E. Jemall each had a try at the initial corner; Delangle and O'Sullivan had second and third to themselves and Cottrell was fixed at short stop. In the field were Robson, Martin and Blesel. Wilks and Pinto each caught for a time.

There were numerous errors by both teams, but they were due mainly to the earliness of the season. The Civic League lot is in poor condition, and needs a great deal of attention to bring it around for a good playing field.

Arnold was wild in the first inning and let the Stars make four, while Rogers made only one. The score went up until in the beginning of the eighth it was tie, 8 to 8. Rogers made each one in the eighth and ninth, and the Stars tied the score again in the ninth with two. At the end of that inning the Stars decided that the work was too strenuous and called it off, leaving the game undecided.

All the Rogers players who were in the game showed that the team has a good string. They all worked with a will, and showed that the few days of practice had benefited them. The first squad was to have been picked Saturday, but because there had not been the practice through the week which was desired by Coach Spinning, it was decided to put off naming the first-string men until this week. Tuesday afternoon the Rogers candidates will meet the same team of Ebbs's All Stars in another practice game. The line-up follows:

Rogers High School.	All Stars
Arnold, p.	p., Ney
Wilks, Pinto, c.	c., Reynolds
Eddy, Sullivan, Martland, E. Jemall, 1b	1.b. Johnson.
Delangle, 2b.	2b., McLyman
O'Sullivan, 3b,	3b., Underwood
Cottrell s.s.	s.s., Williams
Robson, l.f.	l.f., Morlow
Martin, c.f.	c.f., Crowley
Diesel, r.f.	r.f., Ebbs, Curtis

Umpire—"Cap" Curtis.

The Hiltons and All Stars played a second game Saturday, the latter winning by a score of 6 to 2. O'Sullivan pitched a good game for the victors, having complete control of the situation. Had it not been for a passed ball and two wild pitches, he would have retired the Hiltons without a run. Dring started to pitch for the Hiltons, but retired after the second inning. He was followed by Corcoran, who pitched one inning, and then by Sayer, who allowed only one hit in five innings. O'Sullivan struck out nine Hilton batsmen and gave two bases on balls. Dring, Corcoran and Sayer each gave one base on balls. Dring being hit for two safeties in two innings, and Corcoran and Sayer for one hit each. The score by innings is as follows:

Innings	1	2	3	4	5	6	7	8	9
All Stars	3	0	2	1	0	0	0	0	x—6

PEANUT SOCIAL POSTPONED.

Pay Day Causes a Busy Saturday and Sunday at the Army and Navy Y. M. C. A.

Saturday and Sunday were again a busy time at the Army and Navy Young Men's Christian Association, due to the fact that the previous Friday was pay day for the men at the Naval Station. Shortly after 1 o'clock Saturday the men arrived at the building and from that time until the late hours of the night all the departments were engaged in catering to their wants.

The piano was moved out on the first deck during the afternoon and F. J. Brighton of the Reina Mercedes played everything he knew, between "pipes" and a funeral march in ragtime. George Perkins with his violin and R. Leighton with his cornet accompanied Brighton and it is hardly necessary to add that the men enjoyed the music.

Between the hours of 5 and 6 the restaurant was kept busy trying to tame the appetites of the men, while the soda fountain man sought to quench their thirst. The locker room man emerged from his department late in the afternoon and claimed that he had been "rushed to death," while the cashier stuck his head out of his cage and whispered that he had had all he could do selling money orders and taking money on safe deposit.

The peanut social was postponed until next Saturday evening.

Sunday was a "red letter" day. The men were ashore shortly after 1 o'clock and made good use of the building. All departments reported lively times and the way in which the men's wants were supplied shows that all are working in clock-like order.

Promptly at 4:30 the usual Bible class was under way and as usual R. Leighton was there with his cornet and helped out in the song service. Secretary Andrews spoke to the men on the last week of Christ's life before his crucifixion, telling them about the tragic days of his humiliation and death.

After the lesson the Newport and Tiverton branches of the Women's Christian Temperance Union served the luncheon, and many of the boys claimed it was the best meal they had had since leaving home. Home-made cake, sandwiches, pickles and coffee formed the menu, and the men were grateful to the women, not only for the good things but because they remained and served the food.

Temperance pledge cards were distributed and a good number of the men signed them. At the close of the luncheon the women passed Easter post cards to the boys.

PLEASANT EASTER MORNING.

Afternoon Windy and Cold, Followed by Rain in the Evening

Knights Templar at Church, St. Augustin's in Its New Home, New Pastor at Thames Street.

Easter was observed in the Newport churches anuel, as in former years, with two exceptions. The members of St. Augustin's worshipped for the first time in their new building on Carroll avenue, occupying the basement, where the usual services for the day were held. At the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal Church the usual Easter services were especially interesting because of the presence for the first time of the new pastor, Rev. W. H. Bath, and his participation in the exercises.

The weather was agreeable early in the day, and the morning services were largely attended. The churches were appropriately decorated with flowers, Easter lilies predominating, which after the services of the day were distributed to the aged, sick and shut-ins of the parishes. Special musical programs were rendered by the choirs and the sermons were on the lessons of the day. Several of the Sunday Schools had special Easter exercises, some at the regular hours and others later in the afternoon or evening. Offerings were taken for special purposes, those at the Roman Catholic churches being for the charitable work of the diocese, in honor of Bishop Harkins's jubilee.

In the afternoon the spring-like atmosphere disappeared, and a raw, March southwest wind came up, making it disagreeable outdoors and disappointing hundreds who had looked forward to a pleasant walk in the afternoon. In the early evening rain threatened and interfered somewhat with the attendance at the church services. Soon the rain became a reality, and many who had gone out unprepared found that they needed umbrellas, rubbers and heavy clothing when the services were concluded, as the rain was then coming down fast and the wind was blowing strong.

In the afternoon several Commanderies of colored Knights Templar attended a special service at the Mt. Zion African Methodist Episcopal Church. The visitors came from Providence and other cities and included officers of the Grand Commandery of Massachusetts and Rhode Island. They met at the armory of Benjamin B. Gardiner Commandery, and shortly after 2 o'clock the local Sir Knights, Eminent Commander C. C. Brown commanding, headed by the Newport Military Band, escorted the visitors from the hall by a short street parade to the church. Here the Sir Knights were given special seats, the remainder of the auditorium being completely filled. A special sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. T. W. Henderson, D. D. Grand Master W. H. Mathews of the Eureka Grand Lodge of Masons of Rhode Island accompanied the Commanderies.

In the evening Washington Commandery, No. 4, Knights Templar, attended service at Trinity Church. The members, 100 strong with Eminent Commander Robert Frame in charge, marched in full Templar regalia to the church and were given special seats. Rev. S. C. Hughes was assisted in the service by Rev. W. L. Essex and special music was rendered by the vested boy choir, under the direction of Dr. A. Madeley Richardson, the soloist being Mr. H. P. Jevans, formerly principal of Southward Cathedral, London. Rev. Mr. Hughes, who is a member of Washington Commandery, preached from the text in I Corinthians XV: 57: "Thanks be to God, which giveth us the victory through our Lord Jesus Christ."

The parishoners of St. Augustin's had the satisfaction of attending mass Easter Sunday in their own church and Father Reddy and his assistant, Father O'Rourke, were well pleased at the success of their efforts. It was in the basement, temporarily fitted for services until the church proper is ready, but it made a fine place. The carpenters had the room floored, the wainscoting of oak was already in place, the lighting arrangements by window were ample and easy seats had been provided, making the congregation feel that at least they were at home. A temporary altar had been erected at the west end, and a small organ, played by Miss Murphy, assisted the choir, so that everything seemed complete for the services which were all well attended. Father Reddy was at the door to greet the parishoners as they came and all congratulated him on the pleasant and commodious quarters for the spring and early summer.

Eventually the basement will be used as a hall for entertainments, etc., but at present it makes a fine place for services. The floor space is equal to that of the church proper, which has a seating capacity of 800, and there is ample height to make it suitable not only for the purposes for which it is eventually intended but for church purposes also.

The contractor had cleared the approaches on both sides, so that there was no trouble in reaching either entrance.

At the Thames Street Methodist Episcopal Church Rev. W. H. Bath took up his work as pastor, officiating at all the services of the day, participating in the special Sunday School exercises and meeting and receiving a hearty welcome from his new parishioners.

In the morning there was an unusually large congregation, Rev. Mr. Bath in opening his sermon, spoke of his pleasure in coming to Newport, asking for hearty co-operation from the church and congregation in the work of the year, that it might be successful. His theme was the ever and everywhere present God, who is never far away from one of us and does not leave the world to run alone, and life is an expression of what we think about God. After the regular service Rev. Mr. Bath conducted the administration of the Communion.

In the afternoon he attended the session of the Sunday School, meeting the teachers and the children, and in the evening spoke at the Easter concert by the Sunday School, making a pleasant address. During the day special Easter music was rendered by the regular quartet choir, under the direction of Mr. H. A. Titus.

At the Newport Asylum, Rev. Richard Arnold Greene gave an address appropriate to the day and there was a pretty display of Easter lilies and other flowers, which were later distributed in the rooms occupied by the inmates.

There was a good attendance at the Weiter Fawcett Club, where stereopticon pictures of Hoffman's paintings of the resurrection were shown, appropriate passages being read meantime by Rev. R. A. Greene. There was a generous supply of music, including solos and hymns. Rev. Dr. Brigham of Dorchester assisted in the services.

At the carol service at Trinity in the afternoon the address was given by the assistant, Rev. William L. Essex. At the close of the service each child received a plant.

PATRICK FAGAN.

Mr. Patrick J. Fagan, a well known resident of the Fifth ward, died Saturday afternoon at his home on Carroll avenue, after a long illness. He has been actively engaged as a contractor and builder for many years, but recently had retired on account of loss of hearing and partial loss of sight, which followed a fall twelve years ago.

Mr. Fagan was born in West Meath county, Ireland, in 1857 and learned his trade as carpenter in that country. He came to the United States in 1879 and to Newport two years later. For a few years he was employed by various contractors and in 1888 went into business for himself. He was largely instrumental in building up the King lands, erecting houses which he sold and retaining a number until a short time since, when they were transferred to his wife.

He was a member of Newport Council, Catholic Benevolent Legion, and at one time a member of the Ancient Order of Hibernians. He belonged to St. Mary's Church until the separation last year to form St. Augustin's, when he became a member of the latter parish. He was married April 23, 1884, and is survived by a widow and nine of a family of 12 children, the survivers being James, Frank, Patrick, Edward, Philip, William, Catherine, May and Helen Fagan.

FITTING FOR MACKEREL.

The Annie L. Mack a New Style of Boat for These Waters—Two Codfish Arrivals.

Fishing sloop Reliance, Captain Joe Travers, which has been fishing for flounders off Hyannis for two months, arrived home Saturday night and will fit out for the mackerel fishing south.

Fishing boat Annie L. Mack, Captain Henry Clems, has arrived from the east and will fit out at her home port for the southern mackerel fishing. The Mack is a new style for these waters, but is similar to boats used for lobstering off Maine. She is of the cruiser power boat style, with turtle-back forward deck, a big open cockpit and one mast for signal purposes and to carry a little head sail. She depends on her engine, 24 horse power, for power and can go "some," being cut away aft in the style of pleasure craft. She is about 50 feet long and of slight draft, so that she can run into the numerous inlets on the Jersey and near-by coasts, which the larger sailing craft cannot do.

There were two arrivals of codfish Sunday afternoon. Captain Jim Kelley in the Priscilla came up about 5 o'clock, in the middle of the blow, and showed that the craft is something of a sail carrier. He had 2,000 pounds, Captain Austin Peterson arrived soon after in the Thomas B. Congdon with 2,000 pounds. The Reliance from Hyannis had seven barrels of flounders.

There is nothing today, on account of the storm.

FOR UP-TO-DATE NAVY YARD.

Tentative Scheme Worked Out for Construction in Narragansett Bay.

Secretary Meyer's Plan Provides for Six Docks and All the Necessary Facilities.

A Washington despatch to the New York Herald says: "Secretary Meyer has under consideration the recommendation of the General Board and the Joint Army and Navy Board designating Narragansett bay as the best site for a naval station on the Atlantic coast. The establishment of this station, according to the present program, involves the abolition of the navy yards at Portsmouth, Boston and New York.

"Mr. Meyer is not ready to make a definite recommendation pending further investigation and study. But a tentative scheme has been worked out for dock construction at Narragansett bay, consisting of two docks 1,000 feet long and two 650 feet long, to take in any battleship up to the present time, and two small docks suitable for gunboats and destroyers, making six docks in all, and providing berthing space for from 12 to 16 vessels. There also will be shops for construction and repair and for steam engineering, and other facilities to be expected at an up-to-date and efficient navy yard.

FOUND IN GOOD CONDITION.

Annual Inspection and Election of Officers of Company D, Hibernian Rifles.

The annual inspection of Company D, Hibernian Rifles, Captain D. Shea, took place Sunday afternoon in Music hall, the company turning out in full ranks. The inspecting officer was Lieutenant Colonel M. J. Kelly of the First Rhode Island regiment and he found the company and its property in excellent condition. Among others present were Adjutant B. McKenna of the First regiment, Captain Butler of Colonel Roe's staff, Mr. Thomas F. Martin, chairman of the United Irish Societies of Newport, and Patrick Costello, president of the Newport County Hibernians.

Following the inspection there was a social hour with songs and recitations by several of the members and piano selections by the Misses Sullivan and Morris. During the afternoon Company D elected the following officers for the year:

Captain—D. Shea.
First Lieutenant—J. W. Blake.
Second Lieutenant—T. J. Sullivan.

Shirt Waists.

We know the limitations of types well enough not to attempt a description of the exquisite waists that have crowned our efforts. The collection is rich in mere quantity—but far richer in the touches of novelty that every woman admires.

The waists we show! A glance at them reveals the charms of distinctiveness that lift such things above the commonplace.

500 Dainty Lawn, Dimity and Batiste Waists, lace, tucks, embroidery and embroidered, also Irish lace yokes; in fact too many to describe here.
